"I'll believe it when I see it," is a phrase commonly heard by students from administrators, teachers, parents, and even peers. At NC, we have seen it, so we believe it. From proving our skills in athletics, to applying our minds in academics, to helping the community through positive organizations, to accomplishing complex personal goals, we, the students of NC, have shown the community that it can begin believing what it is seeing.

In our surroundings at school, we can believe that the hassle we go through each day with construction is paying off because we can see the classrooms and the cafeteria that have enhanced our school. We also believe that if we skip class you are more likely to get caught because seen the new attendance machine and the administrators to go along with it.

In your lives incredible things have happened, but you do not realize their magnitude afterwards. After seeing what can happen, we all start believing in the unbelievable.

Hopefully this has been an unbelievable year, but we have seen it all through our own eyes, that makes us a believers.

CAN'T WE ALL GET ALONG? Joelle McMaster and Allison Smith spend their vacation in St. Thomas with Marlon.

WE'RE IN THE ARMY NOW! A group of JROTC cadets spent summer time at Fort Campbell, Kentucky.

BEAT THIS. Matt Gonso, Nick Warren, Erick Teuton, and Matt Zimmerman challenge anyone to find a better way to spend their time.

BOSOM BUDDIES. Jim Keeth, Chris Landis, and David Marder take a breather from hiking during a weekend outing.

OH, WHAT A BEAUTIFUL DAY! Christina Derstine and Gretchen Liechty gaze at the Andes mountains.

Do you love them or hate them?

Are they worth it?

By Katie Zoeller

"You can't live with them, you can't live without them."

No, not the opposite sex: family. Whether it be stepparents, adopted parents, guardians, sisters, brothers, or cousins, everybody has family. They very well may drive you crazy, but family represents both stability and comfort.

I am speaking from experience. I come from a huge family, and even have a sister who attends this school. Sometimes, being around her at 6 a.m. when I wake up is enough to make me scream. Other times, she is a calming influence on my frenzied reactions to the day's events on the ride home from school.

If you have family at this school, then you understand what

I'm saying. Although family members are a source of aggravation, they also possess the remarkable ability to pull through for you when nobody else seems to be around.

If you listen to the media, we teenagers are a rebellious, hormonal group sharing our angst with our parents and causing them grief.

Of course, this stereotype leaves no room for parental error.

But we know that in the arguments that ensue, we are not always at fault.

Parents, with their eccentricities and rules, make this already challenging part of our lives even more so. But what would we do without their occasional sound advice? What would we do without any family? "You can't live with them, and you can't live without them."

SISTER, SISTER. Senior Katie Zoeller and her freshman sister Amy Zoeller resort to hanging out on a family vacation in South Carolina.

SISTERLY LOVE. Angie and Sarah Gerkensmeyer appreciate each other despite minor disagreements.

FAR, FAR AWAY. Nick Yu and his brother, Greg, spend time together.

DOUBLE TROUBLE. Samantha and Amy Jarrell think that their relationship is worth the trials and tribulations that sometimes go with it.

FAMILY TOGETHERNESS. Sang Vong exemplifies the doting cousin behavior.

SUNSET BOULEVARD. Jessica and Janci Francis have fun being tourists in L.A.

Enjoying the party

EDITOR'S NOTE: Students appearing on these pages should in no way be associated with the possession or consumption of alcohol.

By Chris Hainline

Picture yourself at a party where people are hanging around eating candy, watching movies, and even playing chess. But, you cannot stay. There is beer there. Everyone knows that beer is bad, right? Or is this a bias our society has placed on alcohol?

I know that drinking under the age of 21 is illegal, but the point is that no one follows all the laws all the time. The individual must make a moral decision when his personal freedoms impose on someone else's safety.

Every time the phrase of alcohol consumption is mentioned, many people immediately develop a negative attitude. Alcohol is not bad. Drinking and driving is bad. If the use of abused. A line must be drawn to protect the well-being of others.

Alcohol opens a door to a new experience different from normal consciousness. I did not say better; I said different. You do not ever need alcohol to have an enjoyable time. Remember the doors of perception can easily be unlocked by drinking, but can be locked for ever if you poorly choose to drink and drive.

By Emily Runyan

Well, yes, alcohol is illegal; and, yes, it tastes gross; but to tell you the truth, none of that would stop me from drinking if I really wanted to. I think my reasons for not drinking go deeper than that. First of all, I'm pretty health-conscious, and I know that extensive drinking leads to liver damage, kidney damage, and damage to the brain. I don't want to take any chances, and would rather play it safe than wind up out of luck. A lot of people don't consider these long-term effects when they first start drinking. Alcohol is addictive however, and after a while, it can be too late to prevent these things from happening.

Secondly, I'm just not attracted to the "party scene". In fact, I find nothing glamorous in getting so slobbering drunk that you can't discern someone's mouth from his forehead and, in a drunken frenzy, try to pour beer down his temples. A lot of my friends like to enjoy a good party now and then, although I don't agree with what they do, I never try to force my opinion on them. They, in turn, respect my beliefs, and don't try to pressure me into doing anything I don't want to. I really appreciate this.

I have enough self confidence to know that I don't need alcohol to get friends, fit in, or to have a good time.

I'm not afraid to stand up for my beliefs, either. I realize that some people drink because it gives them a sense of security; it makes them feel like they fit in somewhere. I have enough self-confidence to know that I don't need alcohol to get friends, fit in, or to have a good time. I don't care if "everybody's doing it." It makes me feel good to know that I stand out because of my standards, and that people respect me because of this.

Now, I'm not trying to preach, or conform to some "Straight Edge" trend. I simply don't think drinking is something I need to go through to try to find myself, or to prove myself to anybody.

STRESS

The presence of stress at NC

By Pam Gaughf

Stress is what all high school students suffer from at one time or another. Stress is defined by Webster's Dictionary as "a physical or emotional factor that causes bodily or mental tension." Simply put, stress is the feeling of not having enough time to do everything that is necessary.

Junior Ian McDaniel remarked, "Stress is what you make of it. We all have different ways of dealing with our problems."

Senior Elizabeth Cox remarked upon something that she once read in a quote, "Stress is the uncontrollable urge to choke the living daylights out of some jerk who desperately deserves it." This may explain some of the derogatory comments about teachers, coaches, and bosses that are ever present in daily life at North Central.

Most people think of friends and family as an outlet from stress. However, upon occasion, parents, siblings and friends can prove to be more trouble than relief. When parents decide that it is time to "lay down the law" they tend to put a certain amount of stress on any teenager's life. Siblings and friends have expectations for each other and when these expectations are not met they can cause an undo amount of stress. The fights and quarrels occur far more often than anyone would like to admit and they just add to our list of problems.

Stress can be found in every aspect of life. It can be a positive push toward achieving more and it can be disastrous when it involves people that we care about. We all go through the blood, sweat, and tears to solve our problems. Just when we think they will be the end of our world, a solution pops up out of nowhere and by some miracle they all go away. These miracles have to happen daily at North Central in order for us to continue our patterns of getting up at the crack of dawn to survive again.

HOME IMPROVEMENT. Chris Kraege can't take the stress anymore: drilling has become a new method of stress relief.

Thanks for being there!

Allison,

I just wanted to say thanks for helping me last week. I'm extremely lucky to have someone like you who stays up all night to help me with a problem.

You're always there for me no matter what. I know I can always count on you, and I don't know how I would have gotten through the last 4 years without you.

Joelle,
 How many times do I have to tell you that you don't have to thank me for being your friend? Although I hope you won't have more weeks like this one, I'll be here to help you if you do. Remember that Sunday morning I turned up unannounced asking for your advice? You listened selflessly and helped me work through my troubles. I only hope I've been as good a friend to you as you've been to me.

English of the ages

Beowulf to Beloved brought together

By Moira Querns

English classes at North Central seek to broaden students' knowledge of literature and their awareness of the world as presented in different texts. Students read a variety of offerings ranging from the ancient Beowulf to the modern poems of America's poet laureate Toni Morrison.

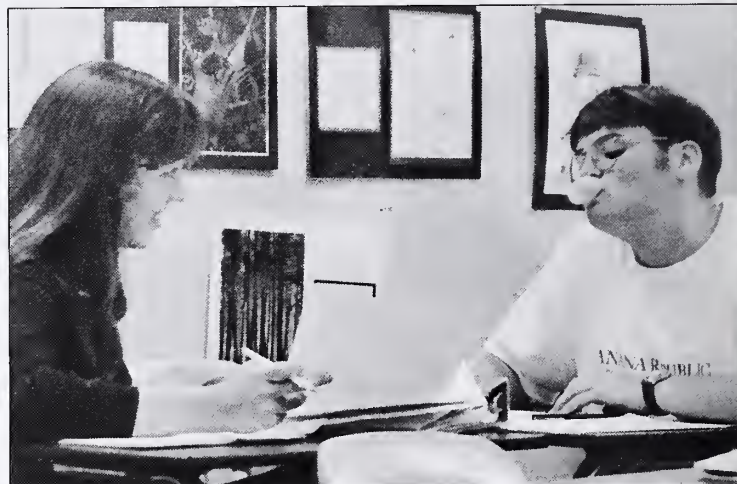

American Literature teacher Mrs. Judy Williams said, "Teaching English expands the real world of the teacher and the student and hopefully broadens out insights into human behavior; we're all different yet so much alike." Our English Department helps us see that.

Sometimes, a book leaves a lasting impression on a student. Senior Marques Franklin remembered "The Odyssey was a great book." Some books, from Things Fall Apart to Huck Finn, stay with a student.

English class is about people and society. "The people in the books we read sophomore year acted like people I know. It was clear that even in England, long ago, people weren't very different," said Junior Sara Wilson.

English is not just reading literature. Course offerings also include speech, journalism, and creative writing.

Juniors Tony Churchill and Ryan Allen interact amusingly with one another in English class.

Juniors Steven Officer and Angie Reister toast to a wonderful meal for Thanksgiving in their American Studies class.

The beauty of mixed cultures

By Courtney Clinger

Foreign languages play an important role in today's society and also at North Central. North Central offers a wide variety of foreign languages: Spanish, French, Hebrew, German, Latin, Chinese and Japanese.

Senior Lindsay Gearhart, a fifth year Spanish student, commented, "Spanish is fun. We watch videos and learn about the culture, not just the language." Many classes took part in field trips and hands on activities in the classroom, such as preparing foods and presenting dialogues.

When asked how she felt about the construction and its affects on the foriegn language department, Mrs. Phyllis Miller commented, "We have been doing the best we can under the circumstances, and we are looking forward to the updated foreign language center. The task of teaching is quite difficult, however, when it is neccessary to vacate your room with students at a moment's notice."

Students also have different reasons for taking foreign languages. Freshman Kyle Black, a second year French student, explains, "I took French in middle school so I decided to continue at North Central. It looks good on my transcript, so why not? The class is fun too."

Many students are offered the chance to take the Advanced Placement tests, which may lead to testing out of college credits.

Work up a sweat!

NC's burnin' with high kicks and skill

Senior Robert Fish emerges from the depths in Mr. Barnes' lifesaving class.

By Jamie Yum

Gym and health are two classes which can relieve you from the stress coming from your academic courses. From The Miracle of Life video to the gym uniforms, we all have shared the experience at one time or another.

Freshman Stephen Walsmith commented, "I really like gym, because it's a lot of fun. The pool is clean this year and the teachers are really nice!"

Sweat is part of the assignment for this aerobics class. Photos by Joelle McMaster

We all need to exercise and it's always fun to play a friendly game of basketball in our gym.

Ms. Jane Maines, one of NC's girls gym teachers, said, "I am glad that the north gym, the wrestling room, and the gymnastic room has been finished."

Due to the fire, gym classes had to make adjustments. Aerobics classes were put in the cafeteria. Classes were shuffled from gym to gym and to the pool area.

Despite the challenges of gym class, always remember that this could be your last year wearing a gym uniform and the last time you'll hear your teacher tell you to say no to drugs. Everyone needs something to hold onto while gasping around the track!

On a career path

Working towards a promising future

By Meredith Evans

The J. Everett Light Career Center has been decried by Junior Amanda Gardner as, "a great opportunity for pursuing future occupations, from Auto Mechanics to Child Care."

The Career Center gives North Central students the opportunity to experience an alternative learning environment outside the typical classroom.

Everyone who had classes in the Career Center knew that North Central was not the only building affected by construction this year.

Mr. Ken Zimmer, Vice Principal of the Career Center, reflected on how construction has affected the facility. "Construction has caused the staff to juggle classes into different areas. There had to be a delay in some courses where the facility wasn't ready- such as Radio/TV and Photography," stated Mr. Zimmer.

The "tunnel" connecting North Central to the Career Center was not accessible this year, but should be by next fall, according to Mr. Zimmer.

"The Career Center enables me to learn skills that I might not be able to learn otherwise," stated Jenny Brown, junior.

In spite of the obstacles presented by construction, the Career Center has continued to provide practical expertise for students who plan to pursue their career right after graduation.

Historizening

Broadening our world visions

By Aarti Sriram

What is the purpose of studying people who have been dead for ages? As Junior Matthew Hursh and Senior Seth Little put in, "A typically boring class is made interesting, and it doesn't make us fall asleep."

That is one of the goals of NC's Social Studies Department. Besides trying to make the subject of history appealing to study, NC's Social Studies Department is going to try and focus on "interdisciplinary courses, better technology, the merging of classes such as math and social studies, and most of all keep a handle on the issue of multiculturalism," as Mrs. Debra Jacobs, chairman of the department, put it.

With construction under way, the Social Studies Department was one of the first to move into the new wing. Mrs. Jacobs, as well as many social studies teachers, is excited about the future, and the new technology that will be installed in every classroom.

For example, every classroom will be equipped with a television, telephone, and a computer that will be hooked on to an inter-net program. Mrs. Jacobs felt that a good way to broaden the curriculum was through team-teaching.

"Life is not separated into social studies and math, it's all integrated."

Art is life!

Department expands

By Maggie Wickes

This year, North Central's renowned art program was anticipating yet another addition to its already impressive department.

A brand new wing was designed for the Art Department, and was in use by the beginning of the second semester.

The Art Department, which already boasts a dedicated staff, enrollment of 600+ students, and 33 classes to choose from, will now add a state of the art facility to its list.

Mrs. Carol Wessels, department chairman, stated that the new addition "will be exciting."

This was the second year of the reconstruction of the Art Department's curriculum. Junior Cathie Wells who was taking photography at NC said she felt that it "allows you to express yourself more freely. You don't have to conform to the thoughts and feelings of the teacher."

These classes are made great by the excellent staff which teaches them

Junior Susan Hodgins added, "The art program is a great creative release after a hard day of North Central classes."

IB is world class

These people are overworked geniuses!

By Courtney Clinger

International Baccalaureate (IB) is one of NC's many extensive course offerings. The students are required to take excellent classes in six areas and finish a community service in order to receive their international diploma.

Senior Leslie Hulvershorn stated, "Theory of Knowledge (TOK) is a unique class that provides a glimpse at topics like philosophy, ethics and aesthetics that other classes don't touch on."

TOK is only one of the many required classes offered to IB students. The group conducts book sales and is very active recycling at NC.

Leslie was in charge of the committee for recycling. She explained, "Initially the recycling project was just for the administration, but it has been expanded throughout the school. Each department has an IB student assigned to collect and sort the department's paper."

"It's not what I've learned, but that my mind has been opened to seeing everything around me a lot better," stated Senior Jared Hershenson.

The IB program is also looked upon very highly by many colleges. Jared reflected, "I think it's a great program for anyone who is willing to challenge him or herself, and something that will benefit the student for the rest of his life."

Unlimited learning: bright environment

Senior J.C. Thomas studies diligently in his LU English class.

By Heather Hakes

Learning Unlimited is an alternative program for students who are self motivated, responsible, and who are not procrastinators. In addition to classwork, students must complete projects in the outside community.

Mrs. Judy Wegner, Community Coordinator for the Learning Unlimited Program commented, "A successful student would be responsible, self directed, and act quickly. He/she must also be much less of a procrastinator."

Eric Fricke, a senior in the program, commented "...the program has helped me discover what I want to study in college, I explore several careers, and I found that I could do things I never thought I could do."

"The classes tend to be harder," said Heather McCormick, Junior Student Director. "We have to do five days worth of work in four, because community meets once a week."

Explosion of the sciences

By Moira Querns

According to department chair Mr. Charles Russell, "The goal of the North Central Science Department is to provide students with an understanding and appreciation of the world in which we live. Extensive laboratory work allows our students to investigate first-hand the natural laws that control and direct scientific phenomena."

It's been difficult for the NC science department to achieve its goals this year. Losing classrooms first to renovation, then to the fire, the department struggled to find room for the lab work off the rolling carts that have become their only permanent space.

Students have learned to adjust to classrooms that move daily. Everyone has managed to teach and learn over the sounds of construction and around the temperature, whatever it may be.

Teachers and students have pulled it off. Working together, they've made use of available resources managed another successful year.

Or was that supposed to be  $Y = X + 3^3$ ?

Senior Ryan Murphy concentrates intently on his math homework.

The Math Department at North Central offers a wide range of courses, from Pre-Algebra to Math Topics, a course beyond Calculus. Students seek not only to memorize axioms and formulas, but to understand the reasons behind these rules.

The department chair, Mr. Joe Fischer said, "Math students and faculty share in the latest successes of the Math Department; whether it be SAT's, ISTEP's, AP's, or after-school contests, North Central mathematics is on a roll." This summarizes the department's principles. Students and faculty work together, and share their victories.

North Central is ahead of other schools in terms of the use of graphic calculators throughout the curriculum, and is just realizing the use of the computer. The course offerings in programming are comparable to other schools, and more students should take advantage of these opportunities. Evan Davis, grade 12, said, "learning to program was really valuable. It has aided me in other classes and at home."

TNL did its share of adjusting this year, relocating its offices due to construction, and postponing production after the fire and water damaged the file server in the computer lab. The December 15 issue was never released.

But, despite all obstacles, Mrs. Kate Raper, adviser for the newspaper stated, "The content remained timely, newsworthy, and thought provoking. We are a national and international award-winning publication."

Senior Chris Hainline, co-editor in chief, remarked, "I love writing and working with people. I will miss getting that little happy feeling inside when I see the finished paper."

Senior and Chief Reporter Emily Hunt stated, "The interviews have been the most interesting for me. It makes me feel like I have an impact on others."

Senior Julie Katz said, "I have learned how to talk to people professionally and work with people objectively." Being only the second person in the history of TNL in charge of ads, Julie took on the challenge of watching the paper's budget with Business Manager Erin Campbell.

Northerner overcomes relocation and fire

By Swati Raychowdhury

From flying pictures to cropmania, the Northerner has managed to meet deadline after deadline, with the help of Adviser Mrs. Kate Raper.

As editors pull hair and writers type away, the publications office also managed the added stress of the BIG MOVE! The staff had to pack up three rooms and move to a different part of the building — after 44 pages of the book were lost due to the fire.

This year's yearbook has been incorporated with exciting and innovative styles. The staff members have dreamt up ideas while taking time during lunch, after school and even weekends.

Head photographer, Senior Adam Collins stated, "There have been problems with the dark-room facilities due to poor maintenance and overall cleanliness. This yearbook is the fruits of our labor and we are proud of it."

Junior Aarti Sriram, organizations editor, mentioned, "'Being a part of yearbook staff has taught me responsibility, the meaning of deadlines and true friendship."

Production coordinator Senior Lisa Shideler added, "Although Pagemaker has taken a lot of extra effort, it's really helped with new designs. It's kept NC publications up with technology."

NC Lady Panthers

Run away with county title

By Jo'el Rouse

After a disappointing 1993 season, the girls' track and field team entered the '94 season with optimism and experience. Leading the way were Graduates Monique Collins, Maya Neely and Claudia Cornelsen, and Seniors Kameelah Shaheed, Molly Alden and Ann Hadley. Juniors Oni Sharp and Sarah Albrecht were strong contributors to the team as well. Along with that experience came a group of talented Sophomores: Jamie Singleteary, Kelly Keene, Camille Gurnell and Jennifer Sherard.

The Lady Panthers finished the regular season with a record of 7-1. The team placed first at the North Central and Tech Invitionals on their way to winning the county title. From there the team placed fourth in the sectional and seventh in the regional, qualifying Alden, Keene and Shaheed for the state championship.

Coach Steve McIntyre commented, "This was a pleasing season because no one expected us to be as good as we were. We won several meets when probably other teams had more talent. But our girls worked together, jelled and were able to come out on top. I was very pleased in those regards and the girls were too."

Sophomore Camille Gurnell said, "Team unity was very important this season because many of the meets came down to the last event, which was when we had to pull together."

Senior Kameelah Shaheed expressed pride towards the team. "We had an awesome season. Last year, we were very young and inexperienced. The difference in this season was that we had experience and knew what to expect. That factor helped us become very successful."

Though pride and team spirit prevailed, many team members were disheartened by their regional meet performances. Sophomore Kelly Keene best summarized the season by saying, "We worked hard every day towards our dream of winning state. Suddenly something happened and our dream was out of reach. However, as time passed, we realized that we gain more from the fall then we would've through victory."

The Lady Panthers have many talented athletes who will return next season. This nucleus will lead the team which promises to be one of the premiere teams in the state.

Seniors lead their season

NC hurdles top rivals

By Maggie Wickes

The North Central boys' track team, coached by Mr. Bruce Blomberg, Mr. Rick Stover, and Mr. Joseph Murphy, ran its way through a spectacular 1993-1994 season. The team began the season with a rocky start, yet improved itself for an outstanding finish.

Coach Blomberg summarized the season by saying, "The team did a good job of improving at the right time." The "right time" began with the county meet and lasted through the state meet. The track team finished second only to rival Lawrence Central at the County Meet. Coach Blomberg felt the team "made up a lot of ground against Lawrence Central," as opposed to previous meets. The track team took home a second place finish in the sectional meet. The team marked yet another second place at the regional meet. The season was ended with a tie for tenth place at the state meet.

The team was led by Seniors Jason Strayhorn, Dante McConnell, Chris Runyan, Corey Wilson, Joe McConkey, Lauren Black, and Fredrick Jackson. Shot put, discus, and the high hurdles proved to be the strongest events. Coach Blomberg marked the '93-94 boys' track team season as "progressive" with the team "improving greatly over the course of the season."

Leaders swing team ahead

By Heather Hakes

She steps in the batter's box, knowing the only obstacle between winning and losing is either her hit or her out. The crowd silences and her palms begin to sweat. The pitcher stares her down and the ball is flung into the air with incredible force...

This season, the Lady Panther softball team was hard at work improving their offensive and defensive skills. The Lady Panthers had an opportunity to work with Coach Leanne Eustache over the course of the season which allowed for better communication. The team was lead by one returning senior, Abigail Gardner and by first year player Senior Carrie Havel. Sophomore Cassidy Ferraro believes that the seniors "displayed great leadership and helped us to play our best as well as have fun." Ferraro also commented that "Our defense was very tough this year, which eliminated the problem of high scoring games."

As for next season, the Lady Panthers hope to gain consistency in pitching, which is lead by Sophomore Jennifer Zehr, Freshman Jennifer Brown, and Freshman Heather Rickliff. Junior Whitney Shelley believes "Next season, we should be really strong, I hope for us to have a winning season and do well in our sectionals."

Among other goals such as the improvement of hitting, Coach Lynda McQuiston believes that with ten returning varsity players next season, "I would like for the team to get to the first regional game." Coach McQuiston also commented, "This team has all it needs to go as far as they would like to, with their athletic ability, intelligence, and experience, these young ladies should compete with exceptional positive results."

H.E.A.D. for State

NC Swings Short

By Melanie Hammel

"Keep your H.E.A.D. (Hustle, Enthusiasm, positive Attitude, great Desire to win) in the game." This is the motto that led North Central's 1994 baseball team to an outstanding 26-4 record and a birth in the state finals played at Bush Stadium.

With nine returning lettermen, including two starting pitchers, and three position starters, success was imminent for this year's team. The players worked extremely hard training as a team, as well as individually, during the off season. According to Head Coach Rick Shadiow, the team's goal for the season was first to win county, and after achieving that, set its sights on winning state.

If ever there were a team endowed with the talent to win state, it was this one, according to Senior Ben Bontrager. "Senior leadership played a big part of the team's success," he said.

Junior Brian Pritchard agrees that after having played together for four years, "The seniors bonded and provided the team with unity and leadership that made them successful."

The team made it all the way to the state finals at Bush Stadium before being beaten, 7-6, in an extra-inning semi-final game, against McCutcheon.

The talent of many individuals on North Central's team was not unrewarded. Graduates Sheldon Bratton, Pat O'Donnell, Jeff Cromer, and Todd Walti were named first team All-Marion County. Members of the second team included graduates Brian Winklemann, Jon Stern, and Senior Craig Hittle. Graduate Pat O'Donnell was a member of the All-State Second Team as well as the South All Star Team.

O'Donnell also broke NC's doubles record which had been set in 1985.

Tennis unity

Team stays on top

By Iman Ayoubi

When asked for one word that describes NC's girls tennis team, three-year coach, Mrs. Heather Iffert emphasized the word, "team."

"It may seem crazy, but that's exactly what we were. A team," revealed Coach Iffert.

So when one thinks of NC's girls tennis team, it should be made known that togetherness is the key point in the team's morale. According to Coach Iffert the thing that kept the team so strong and doing their best at all times was the fact that no one thought they were better than anyone else. With a varsity team of experienced players such as Bonnie Bleeker, Lauri Barrett, Meg Smith, Katie Moss, Katie Barrett, and Stacey Nell, the team had an explosive season. Every team member helped lead the team to the semi-state.

The importance of togetherness was emphasized with fun activities for the team and spirited cheers among other things.

"It's not just being on a sports team. Everyone sticks together making an individual sport come together as one team. That's what makes it so fun," said junior varsity team member, Jenny Hess.

These girls show real Panther spirit to the fullest with the true meaning of team spirit. They look forward to another fun and exciting year full of many successes.

Another season in swing

By Angela Trimpe

"The popularity of golf has grown a lot in the past 20 years," according to the junior varsity boys' golf Coach Randy Males. The JV team did well, finishing with an impressive 9-1 record. The team consisted of Senior Greg Glassley, Juniors Todd Giganti, Matthew Hursh, and Alex Linn, and Sophomores Jay Constable and Brenton Scott.

The boys' Varsity was coached by Mr. Bruce Farley. "This past year's team was one of the most competitive teams I've coached, and a super bunch of players," stated Coach Farley.

The successful team consisted of graduates Blaine Dinwiddie, Kevin Vernick, Jason Rich, and Aaron Rickleff, Juniors Chris Wilmes, and Steve Burrows. They finished the season an impressive 14-0, won sectionals, and placed second in regionals and tenth overall.

Junior Matthew Hursh felt that, "As strong as the JV team was last year, a lot of good players will be stepping up to varsity. The varsity team should be a major contender."

"Marion County's Best," is what Coach Joe Murphy had to say about this year's girls' golf team. As the NC golf coach since 1985, he describes this year as "one of the better golf teams I've coached. The girls have fun, which makes it very enjoyable."

With five returning varsity players and six underclassmen the golf team came out on top with a record of 8-5 during regular season. They finished the season placing second in sectionals and sixth in regionals.

Senior Megan Feezle stated, "Golf is a good team sport."

This year's team consisted of Seniors Erin Adcock, Kimberly Barrett, Megan Feezle, and Ann Hadley, Junior Melanie Hammel, Sophomores Christy Agness, Nancy Nicely, Amy Phemister, and Samantha Seward, and Freshman Adriane Farmwald, and Keri Gresk.

NC Football team/Tootsie Roll dancers

By Aarika Mack

Although the grid iron Panthers, coached by Al Harants, did not make it to the "Big Dance" in the RCA Dome this year, the football team ended their season with a winning record of 5-3. Though the Panthers didn't repeat their undefeated record, the season can be counted as a successful one.

"People expected us to be better than we were because of what they accomplished last year," said senior Chris Davis. "Most people didn't realize that we were working with a new team minus some of the big stars from last year."

"Beating Ben Davis for the second time in two years in the sectionals was a real ego booster.

It proved that North Central was still a team to be reckoned with," said sophomore William Fife.

The '94 team was a team full of character and spirit. After every win, the team performed its signature dance the "Tootsie Roll."

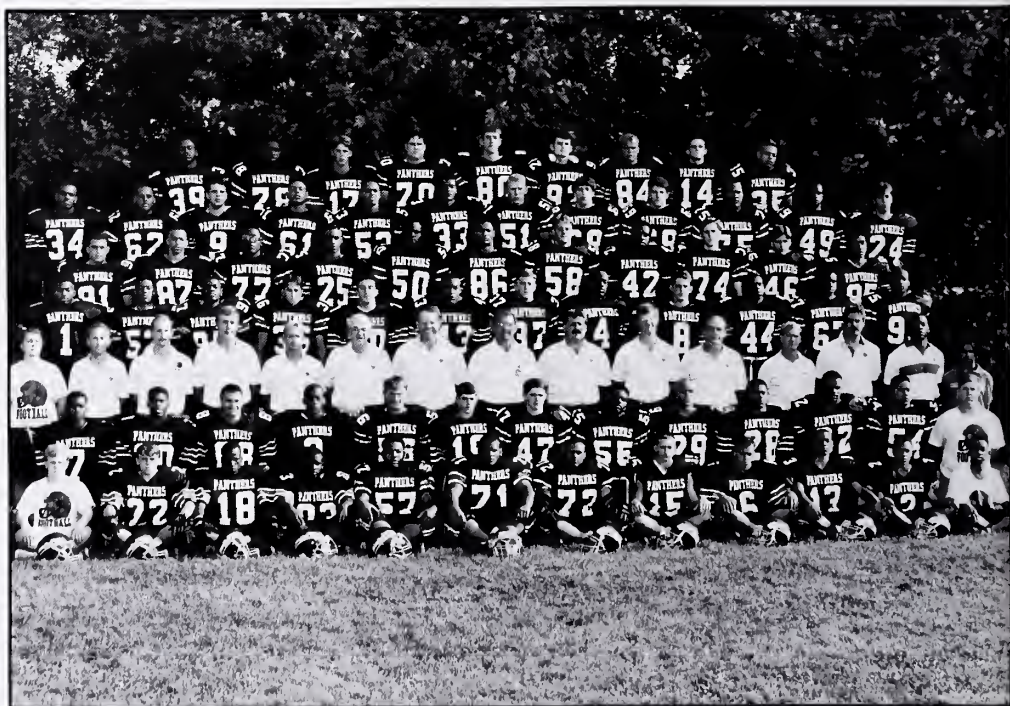

"The Tootsie Roll was just a crowd pleaser," laughed Senior Gerard Edwards, "it got our fans into the games."

Just like the old saying goes "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, again." Who knows, '95 just might be North Central's turn to "Tootsie Roll" all the way to a state championship.

1994 Champs...Again

One match at a time

By Becky Ravensburg

With last year's promise of taking it "one match at a time," NC tennis came back as strong as ever.

Losing only once in the past three years, NC has remained on top, and came out with yet another state championship.

Junior Mark Ratner provided his insight on the matter, "Last year I was the last person to make varsity. When we won it felt great but since I wasn't playing I didn't really understand. But I worked hard to make the top seven and when Ryan Christie and I won our matches in semi-state and state it was the greatest feeling of accomplishment I've ever had."

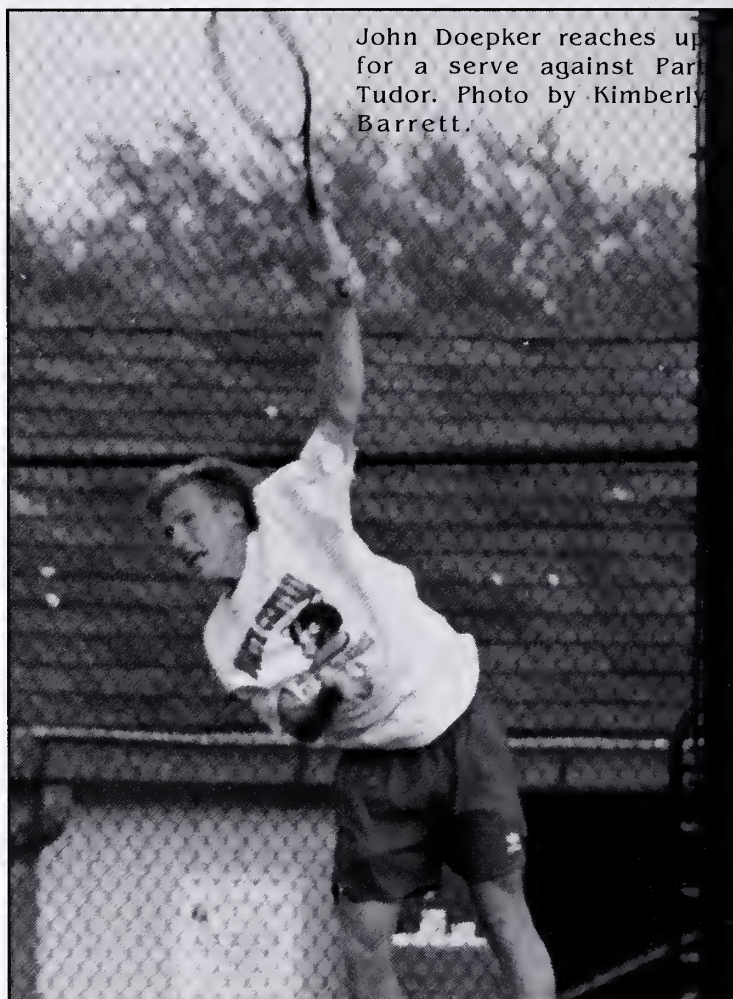

His brother, freshman tennis player Eric Ratner said, "It takes hard work and discipline to make varsity. I'd love to make it next year!"

Sophomore Trenton Hahn talked about next year's varsity team, "Other high school teams are losing valuable players and we pretty much have good players coming off freshmen and reserve, so it should be easier to do well next year."

"Another state title is entirely possible," stated Coach Byron Buckley about next year's team making it their fourth straight state title. "We are losing some good players, Riley and Isenberger as doubles players, and a strong singles player in Doecker. But we have a strong junior nucleus to build from with Schumacher and Hammond playing singles, plus Ratner and Christie who are very good doubles players. Also our reserve team was undefeated and our freshmen team only lost one match."

Next year NC should be another strong contender as they fight for their fourth straight state title run. Coach Buckley surmised, "This was supposed to be a building year, but with this team's intangibles; such as work ethics, good attitudes and good practice, they managed to bring in yet another state title."

Run hard!

Team runs far

By Eileen Stehman

"People don't realize that cross country is really more a team than an individual sport. We started off the year with some uncertainty, but we've worked so that the team, as well as the individuals, could succeed," commented senior cross country runner, Christine Stehman.

And succeed is just what the 1994 North Central girls' cross country team did. The team consisted of 13 runners, and completed an undefeated dual meet season. To top off their 10 and 0 regular season record, the girls won both the Southport and Cathedral invitationals, placed fourth in the Warren Central Hokum-Karum and came out of sectional, regional, and semi-state competition with a strong finish. The team surpassed their goals by winning the sectional and regional, and later placed a strong second in semi-state competition, qualifying the team for state.

Freshman Amanda Caswell, Trina Ngo, and Kristin Reese, Sophomore Kelly Keene, and Seniors Christine Stehman, June Sounders and Molly Alden were team leaders.

According to Coach Stephen McIntyre, reasons the girls succeeded and even dominated in local competition included "senior leadership, team unity, a good work ethic, and also talent."

Junior Sarah Switzer remarked that "the seniors really gave shape to our team. They showed the newcomers the ropes and led us to our successful season."

Although fewer runners meant less depth when injury and illness occurred, the girls got to know one another really well.

According to Junior Ginny Kuebler, "The size really helped us get to know one another better. We truly are a family." A key word for the team this year was family. When asked about how she liked the team as a first year runner, Junior Whitney Scott commented, "I like it a lot. They really adopted me into their family."

Senior Molly Alden stated that, "The thing I'll miss the most when the year is over is the family we have. There are so many different types of people on the team, but by the end of the season, we have all become sisters."

They're grand!

A family running for state

By Cory Schulte

"Hail our Panthers, hats off to thee, To our colors, true we will ever be. Red, black, white, united we stand, Working ever, failing never, Pulling for our team together. Panthers, we think you're grand."

G-R-A-N-D NC!"

As the boys' "grand" cross country team gets ready to end another "grand" and explosive season, the words "united we stand, working ever, failing never, pulling our team together," hold true to describe the team which has crushed, squashed, bruised, and beaten their opponents. With a 10 and 0 record in dual meets, a 112 and 118 record in overall meets, the Marion County and regional champs titles, plus third place finish in semi-state and with high hopes of doing well in the state meet, this year's cross country team is on top of it all!

Though the points depend on how the individuals placed, the boys have to depend on each other's success to win.

"Though cross country is an individual effort, you have to work together as a team to succeed," states Junior runner, Rich Foster.

Senior Nathan Baker

defines NC's cross country team as, "more of a team running for each other than instead of individually. We're one big family."

This year's boys' cross country squad most definitely defines the meaning of a "team." Cheers of encouragement from fellow teammates and fans at the mile marker and along side the course can be heard for miles away, along with the groans over a lost euchre game at the weekly Friday night pasta party, which ends early, of course! Runners need their rest. One could also meet the smaller cross country version of the Panther mascot as he runs along side cheering the team on. you might also have the team as a whole cheering, and supporting North Central's spirited cross country team in the state!

This year's team was led by seven seniors: Corey Wilson, Joe McConkey, Lauren Black, Caden Taylor, Jeremiah Benge, Nathan Baker, and Jeff Burch.

To sum up this year's season, Coach Rick Stover ended, "With 14 seniors altogether, you're only as good as your senior leadership!"

Persistence prevails when all else fails

By Jo'el Rouse

The North Central girls' soccer team finished the 1994 season with a record of 6-13-1. The team was led by Senior Captains Lindsey Grossman and Jenny Mitchell, plus Seniors Megan Wallace and Joelle McMaster. This quartet received strong support from Junior Captain Stacy Kreger, and Juniors Becky Ravensberg, Cherrylynn Outcalt and Erin Wallace.

The team, coached by Ms. Lynn

Schopp, stressed communication and spirit among members. This included weekend parties, picnics, "Super Secret Pal Spirit" nights and a gathering at an NCAA soccer game. Senior Megan Wallace commented, "We worked well together because we had lots of fun." Junior Erin Wallace agreed, "We weren't just teammates, we were friends off the field as well."

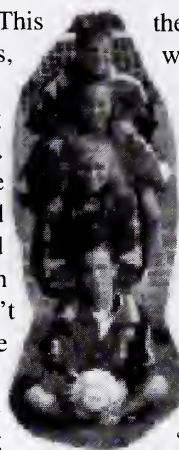

The high points, for the Lady Panthers, were a string of victories towards the end of the regular season. These wins included victories over Ben Davis and Brownsburg. Outcalt stated, "It was a huge moral booster for the entire team. It was really exciting because everything came together."

Coach Schopp offered her impressions of the team by saying, "We had a tough season.

In fact, we were better than our record showed. I'm optimistic about next season. We're losing four talented seniors to graduation, however, the incoming class will bring more talent to the team. The Panthers of '95 will be formidable."

There are nine returning starters, and with "talented" incoming freshman, next year's girls soccer team promises to be stronger than last year. Led by captains Stacy Kreger, Cherrylynn Outcalt and Anna Seno.

NC soccer repeat

'Proud of our tradition'

By Becky Ravensberg

The North Central boys' soccer team has done it again—won the state title.

This is the first year soccer has been sanctioned as an IHSA sport and NC claimed the first state title. They also won last year and in 1982.

The Panthers finished their season ranked number one in the state and ninth in the nation by a USA TODAY national poll, not to mention their impressive 50-0 record over the past two years.

Lead by starting Seniors Ted Brauer, Tory Harris, Jamie Pettingail, Nathan McGuire, Seth Little and Ben Anderson, the Panthers defeated South Bend Adams 3-0 before 3,278 people, and outscored their opponents this year by an impressive 93-7 margin.

Junior Tony Monroe, a varsity walkon from Michigan, commented on the team, "The juniors will have to step up because we are losing a lot of important seniors."

Sophomore defensive player Scott McNichols agreed, "It will be hard losing important defensive players, we'll just have to do what we did this year."

One of the team managers Santino Monroe explained his job on the team, "I fill their waterbottles and other stuff for the guys. I had to work hard as their team manager, and I might do it next year too."

This shows that not just one person on the team is more important than anyone else. They work hard during practice and have fun when they can get away with it.

Senior Tory Harris was given the mental attitude award, which goes to an excellent athlete and scholar who demonstrates leadership as well.

As for next year's dynasty of strong soccer players that team Coach Jerry Little has worked so hard to form, Scott McNichols explained, "We can win state next year too!"

High hopes for next year

By Angela Trimpe

With five returning seniors: Sarah Diehl, Alison Harlor, Emily Salatich, Whitney Shelley, and Megan Tremain, this year's Varsity Volleyball team had an outstanding year.

"The girls worked well together both on and off the floor," according to Coach Leanne Eustache, who has been the NC volleyball coach for the past three years. "The girls were able to overcome obstacles because of their determination, desire, and dedication to the team."

Junior Jennifer Zehr said the strongest part of this year's team was that they worked well together. "We had good front row hitters and played a lot of good defense. Overall, we were able to play together as a team."

This season's 18-15 record "doesn't even begin to show the improvement we made throughout the year," according to Junior Liz Eble, who believes that next year will be a difficult one. "Since we will be losing five seniors we will have to work hard to play together as a team. We'll also have to work hard for team spirit which was good this year."

Coach Eustache said that next year she hopes to "go a step further" by "winning county" and "going further in sectionals."

Girls swim ahead

Unity carries team to County

By Jennie Brown

Once again, the girls' swimming and diving team has had an excellent season. "It went real well," explained Coach Mark Barnes, who went on to say that the record is 11-2 and the ladies won the county by 75 points. Junior Gretchen Bigsby, one of the six divers, exclaimed, "I did pretty well. My highest score was 257!"

"Everybody worked hard and has gotten better," said Mr. Barnes. "I made remarkable improvements, not only timewise, but my technique improved as well," remarked junior team member, Maggie Wickes. Barnes has high hopes that the team will only continue to get better next year. He mentioned, though,

that that has a lot to do with what the girls do during their off-season.

Most of the team agreed that there was a lot of team unity. The girls are close and have "come together well," replied Coach Barnes. "We do stuff together and everyone gets along well. There's a lot of team unity," explained Maggie. Gretchen agreed, too, "Swimming and diving is more unified socially, we all got along well and had fun together."

After losing only two seniors to graduation, the North Central boys' varsity basketball team had a quick start to the 1994-1995 season. The team adjusted well to second year Coach Doug Mitchell, the loss of the new gym to a fire, and five sophomores. They showed constant improvements and unity towards the end of the season. The players were encouraged by the coach to never give up and that there's more to being on the basketball team than just being a good player.

After gaining experience with the players last year, Mitchell put together a team with great effort and cooperation. They learned not only about basketball from him, but "that we need to keep our grades up and work hard," said Senior James Gardner. Coach Mitchell's motivation got the players ready for every game, and for them to go out on the court and not only win, but do their best.

The seniors showed leadership in uniting the new team. Out of the five seniors, only two players were varsity last year. Senior Eric Ragland received a nomination to the McDonald's All-America Team. He was known for his leadership. Ragland said, "Coach Mitchell is respected by the team because he motivates all of us to take our ability to a higher level."

The team is very optimistic about NC's future. Senior Larry Henry believes that the team had a good season and will get further than the Sectional

Championships next year. Henry said, "The team had a good season mostly because of the good chemistry of the team."

The Panthers strived for success and unity as a team throughout the season. "They practiced very hard and always tried their best," said Coach Mitchell. From the loss of their gym to having to finish the game against Warsaw without their coach, the Panthers always kept their heads high and had a positive attitude. With a more experienced team and coach returning, NC will keep up the tradition of leadership and unity in the future!

Ladies shoot for State basket

By Megan Blackwell

With much of the varsity team returning, including five seniors, the Lady Panthers have greatly improved their playing skills along with team unity. "When it came down to tournament time, the team really pulled together," said Sophomore Toni Fasone.

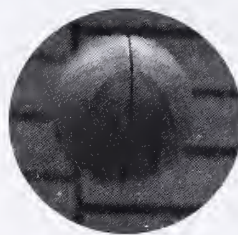

Even though the Panthers struggled in the regular season, the team worked and did very well in the post-season competition. Unlike last year, the team did achieve the goal of winning their sectional by beating Brebeuf, 49-47. "We played like a team in that game and the seniors really showed their leadership," said Junior Susan Butz.

The Lady Panthers then continued onto the regional competition, defeating Tech. In the second game North Central was defeated by Roncalli. "We were really pleased because we got a lot further than we thought we would and Roncalli was a really good team," commented Susan.

Because of the fire, the team was relocated to Northview, which they considered home. "This year we finally had a home gym and we were really disappointed when the fire happened," said Toni.

Despite obstacles, the Lady Panthers still seemed to attempt and achieve their goals. Assistant Varsity Coach Sherman Wallace said, "I think the team had a good year with an excellent post-season, and I think that team unity played a big part in that."

Boys' swimming in action

By Abby VanHuss

On Saturday, Feb. 25, North Central's boys' swim team competed in the state meet held at the Natatorium.

Freshman R. J. Morgan and Seniors Richard Forslund, Nik Hawks, and Caden Taylor placed tenth in the Medley Relay and second in the consolations of that event. Each leg of the relay team swims 50 yards; two pool lengths.

"We were really happy because everyone swam their best times at the state meet, and we were able to beat Carmel's relay team," said Caden.

Sophomore diver Jon Schneider also represented the Panthers for the first time at the Natatorium. "Hopefully I'll make it again next year and do better," commented Jon.

Coach Bill Powell's swimmers started practicing in October and ended the season 6-0 in dual meets. They also captured the Marion County title and placed second to Carmel in the Sectional meet.

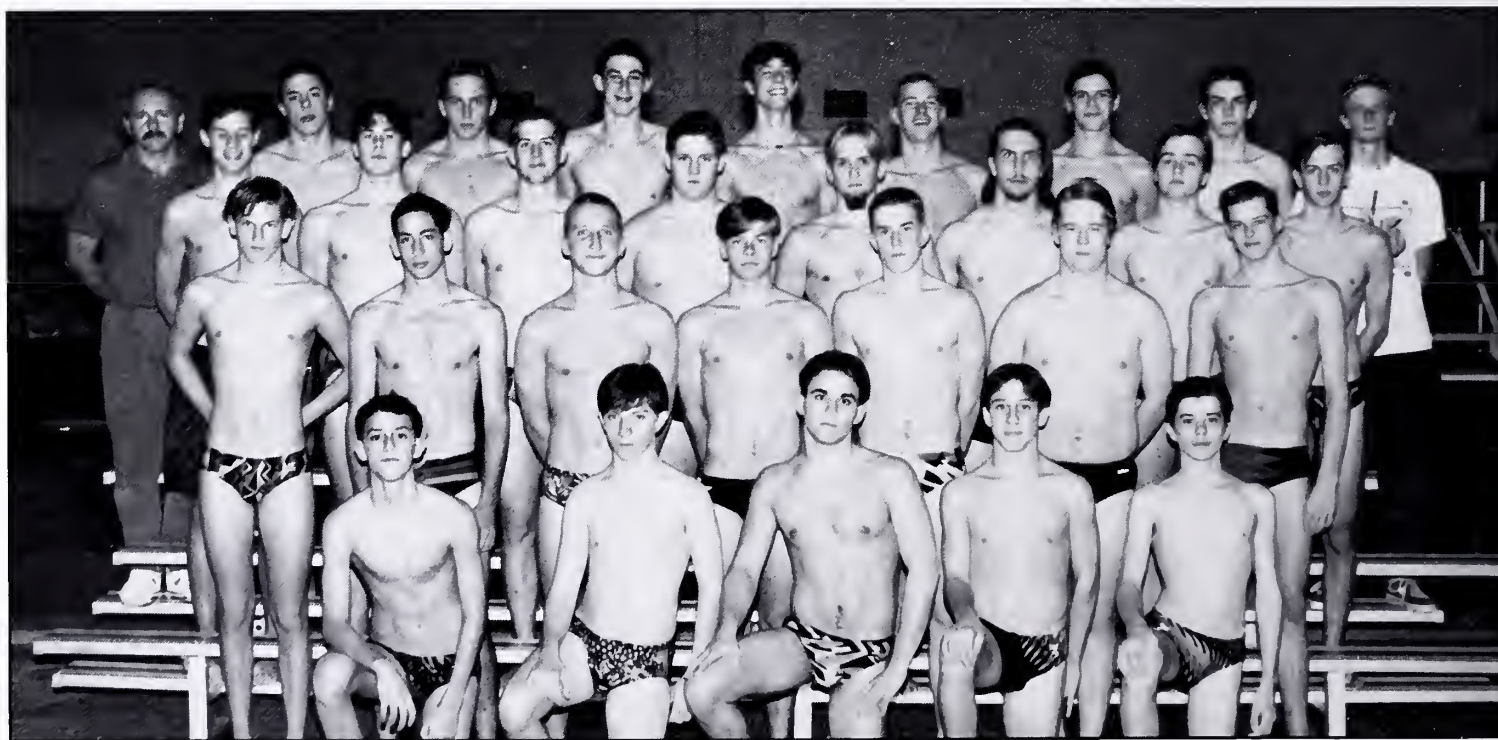

In order to qualify for the state meet, the swimmers had to place third or better in their respective events at sectionals. Jon placed third in diving and the Medley Relay team placed second.

Even though they will lose their "good group of seniors," the team is optimistic for next year's season.

We have good underclassmen and three really strong freshmen. More people will qualify for state next year," said Jon.

Remodeled wrestling room?

By Maggie Wickes

The NC Wrestling team faced a 1994-95 season filled with adjustments. The team began the season in a remodeled wrestling room, but due to the fire, the team was once again uprooted from its practice room in the main gym. The team spent the season practicing in the Northview gym, which also caused some problems. "Due to the conflict with Northview teams, practice length was shortened from one hour and 45 minutes, to only one hour, we were dissappointed," said Robert Levine.

Through facing numerous obstacles, they had yet another successful season. The season ended with a winning record of 8 and 5. Two seniors, Gerard Edwards and Ricky Hancock, made semi-state and according to

Coach Joe Murphy "both did a great job and put in a good effort." Others that led the team were John Altman, Wes Dodson, John Rolling, Diandre Hill, and Andre Rice. Two freshmen, Jeff Reuther and Chris Rosenthal, wrestled varsity and contributed heavily to the team.

Wes Dodson, 12, felt that "the team had to make a lot of adjustments this year, but considering what we had to go through, we had a successful season."

Flippin' out

Ladies tumble to county

By Meredith Evans and Maggie Wickes

"Sometimes a season passes in a blaze, but the memories will last a lifetime." The eight members of the NC gymnastics used this quote as a guide to their mindset throughout the 1994-95 season. Their key work word was ADAPT. This was because (due to the fire) the team's equipment, which had just been replaced from the previous fire, was destroyed once again. The team traveled to the Indy School of Gymnastics for practices.

According to Katie Fritsch, junior, "It has been worth it for the sake of saving injuries. The equipment is better and we have more of it to use."

The team was coached by Mrs. Vicki Wright

and Assistant Barbara Reed. Coach Wright reflected on the positive aspects of the fire. "We have become more mentally tough and have learned the true meaning of time management," she said.

Ranked on the top 10 on the AP Poll, the team's season went well and they became county champs. The team captains were seniors Emily Radecki, Holly Gardner, and Junior Katie Fritsch. Radecki commented, "The team stuck together and it showed in our scores...We scored consistently higher than we did last year." The other members of the team were Junior Jaime McGhee, Sophomore Jennifer Sherard, and Freshman Destinee Overstreet, Kelly Tommasone, and Abby Harlan. The team will lose their top all-around seniors, Radecki and Gardner, but plans to rebuild into a competitive team again.

Intramural bowlers get 'rowdy'

By Jennie Brown

Nora Bowl was the place to be every Tuesday at 3:30 pm. There one could cheer on the intramural bowling teams, sponsored by Mr. Terrell Hudson. Senior Mike Morris, member of the champion team #44 and who claims a high score of 314, described the excitement in the lanes.

"We would roll the ball down the lane and pins would fall down." Senior Jeff Burch, second place individual bowler and member of third place team King Burch and the Fluffnevets, described the action in the alley as "rowdy." "We engaged in more trash-talking as we defended our crown. Everyone was out to get us because we were, without a doubt, the best."

Senior Courtney Clinger, who regrets not being on a bowling team, but who was an avid fan, claims

everyone could "feel the excitement in the air before each game."

Each Tuesday the teams would play two games. The winning teams would receive two points. At the end of the season all of the points were added together to determine the champ. When asked what was done to boost team spirit, Mike replied, "I ate my teammates' nachos and I bowled." He went on to say that the best thing about bowling was the jalapeno peppers. "When you had one it provided a frictionless grease that enabled the bowling ball to slide off your hand with ease; winning the championship was great, too." Jeff concluded that the best thing about bowling was getting out of track every Tuesday.

Panther Power

Cheerleaders provide spirit

By Becky Ravensberg

"Go Panthers! NCHS is number one!" We hear the enthusiastic cries of the cheerleaders at football games, pep rallies, basketball games and other school functions.

Girls' Varsity Cheer Coach Lisa Knipp stated, "Coaching these girls is a challenge, one that requires time to work together, and to trust each other. All you can do is choose the best talent and improve, and it's my job to reach the potential of each girl and incorporate that into a squad. This requires putting the potential of each of them together to work as a team."

The girls grew close during all the time spent with each other. Whether they were at camp, at a game or cheering at practice, these girls had fun together (almost) all of the time.

Freshman Kelly K a r r m a n n commented on the freshman s q u a d cheering experience, "I think it is a good experience, but a lot of hard work and very time consuming. It's fun to make a lot of new f r i e n d s h i p s . "

Junior Christy Johnston explained, "Cheering is very fun.

My favorite part of it is hamming it up in front of the crowd."

Senior Kelly Maher put her own senior advice in, "With only three seniors this year it was a little difficult in terms of leadership, but we pulled together and fulfilled our expectations. We achieved more through personal goals, and hopefully next years cheerleaders will be able to take that to Nationals with them and do even better than they have before."

Any game or pep session wouldn't be the same without the excitement and good attitudes the cheerleaders provide for our school and the "Panther Pride" that is unique to North Central.

NC freshman cheerleaders: G.Mannweiler, A.Hall, A.Izsak, N.Bennett, K.Klein, V.Graham, B.Roberts, J.Mays, J.Maxberry, K.Karrmann, T.Peden, K.Hutchinson.

NC varsity cheerleaders: S. Woods, J. Lovinger, J. Noble, W. Lovinger, K. Maher, A. Astley, C. Dugan, C. Johnston, V. Kubly, K. Kowinski, C. Schulte.

NC soccer repeat

'Proud of our tradition'

By Becky Ravensberg

The North Central boys' soccer team has done it again—won the state title.

This is the first year soccer has been sanctioned as an IHSAA sport and NC claimed the first state title. They also won last year and in 1982.

The Panthers finished their season ranked number one in the state and ninth in the nation by a USA TODAY national poll, not to mention their impressive 50-0 record over the past two years.

Lead by starting Seniors Ted Brauer, Tory Harris, Jamie Pettingail, Nathan McGuire, Seth Little and Ben Anderson, the Panthers defeated South Bend Adams 3-0 before 3,278 people, and outscored their opponents this year by an impressive 93-7 margin.

Junior Tony Monroe, a varsity walkon from Michigan, commented on the team, "The juniors will have to step up because we are losing a lot of important seniors."

Sophomore defensive player Scott McNichols agreed, "It will be hard losing important defensive players, we'll just have to do what we did this year."

One of the team managers Santino Monroe explained his job on the team, "I fill their waterbottles and other stuff for the guys. I had to work hard as their team manager, and I might do it next year too."

This shows that not just one person on the team is more important than anyone else. They work hard during practice and have fun when they can get away with it.

Senior Tory Harris was given the mental attitude award, which goes to an excellent athlete and scholar who demonstrates leadership as well.

As for next year's dynasty of strong soccer players that team Coach Jerry Little has worked so hard to form, Scott McNichols explained, "We can win state next year too!"

Serving up trouble

High hopes for next year

By Angela Trimpe

With five returning seniors: Sarah Diehl, Alison Harlor, Emily Salatich, Whitney Shelley, and Megan Tremain, this year's Varsity Volleyball team had an outstanding year.

"The girls worked well together both on and off the floor," according to Coach Leanne Eustache, who has been the NC volleyball coach for the past three years. "The girls were able to overcome obstacles because of their determination, desire, and dedication to the team."

Junior Jennifer Zehr said the strongest part of this year's team was that they worked well together. "We had good front row hitters and played a lot of good defense. Overall, we were able to play together as a team."

This season's 18-15 record "doesn't even begin to show the improvement we made throughout the year," according to Junior Liz Eble, who believes that next year will be a difficult one. "Since we will be losing five seniors we will have to work hard to play together as a team. We'll also have to work hard for team spirit which was good this year."

Coach Eustache said that next year she hopes to "go a step further" by "winning county" and "going further in sectionals."

Girls swim ahead

Unity carries team to County

By Jennie Brown

Once again, the girls' swimming and diving team has had an excellent season. "It went real well," explained Coach Mark Barnes, who went on to say that the record is 11-2 and the ladies won the county by 75 points. Junior Gretchen Bigsby, one of the six divers, exclaimed, "I did pretty well. My highest score was 257!"

"Everybody worked hard and has gotten better," said Mr. Barnes. "I made remarkable improvements, not only timewise, but my technique improved as well," remarked junior team member, Maggie Wickes. Barnes has high hopes that the team will only continue to get better next year. He mentioned, though,

that that has a lot to do with what the girls do during their off-season.

Most of the team agreed that there was a lot of team unity. The girls are close and have "come together well," replied Coach Barnes. "We do stuff together and everyone gets along well. There's a lot of team unity," explained Maggie. Gretchen agreed, too, "Swimming and diving is more unified socially, we all got along well and had fun together."

Winning through spirit

Up in smoke. Part two.

By Jenny Noble

After losing only two seniors to graduation, the North Central boys' varsity basketball team had a quick start to the 1994-1995 season. The team adjusted well to second year Coach Doug Mitchell, the loss of the new gym to a fire, and five sophomores. They showed constant improvements and unity towards the end of the season. The players were encouraged by the coach to never give up and that there's more to being on the basketball team than just being a good player.

After gaining experience with the players last year, Mitchell put together a team with great effort and cooperation. They learned not only about basketball from him, but "that we need to keep our grades up and work hard," said Senior James Gardner. Coach Mitchell's motivation got the players ready for every game, and for them to go out on the court and not only win, but do their best.

The seniors showed leadership in uniting the new team. Out of the five seniors, only two players were varsity last year. Senior Eric Ragland received a nomination to the McDonald's All-America Team. He was known for his leadership. Ragland said, "Coach Mitchell is respected by the team because he motivates all of us to take our ability to a higher level."

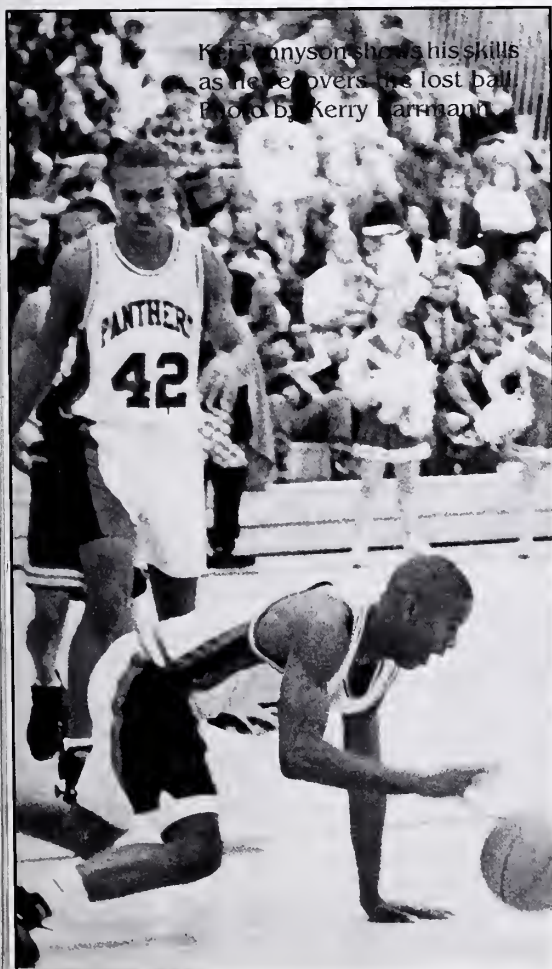

The team is very optimistic about NC's future. Senior Larry Henry believes that the team had a good season and will get further than the Sectional

Championships next year. Henry said, "The team had a good season mostly because of the good chemistry of the team."

The Panthers strived for success and unity as a team throughout the season. "They practiced very hard and always tried their best," said Coach Mitchell. From the loss of their gym to having to finish the game against Warsaw without their coach, the Panthers always kept their heads high and had a positive attitude. With a more experienced team and coach returning, NC will keep up the tradition of leadership and unity in the future!

Ladies shoot for State basket

By Megan Blackwell

With much of the varsity team returning, including five seniors, the Lady Panthers have greatly improved their playing skills along with team unity. "When it came down to tournament time, the team really pulled together," said Sophomore Toni Fasone.

Even though the Panthers struggled in the regular season, the team worked and did very well in the post-season competition. Unlike last year, the team did achieve the goal of winning their sectional by beating Brebeuf, 49-47. "We played like a team in that game and the seniors really showed their leadership," said Junior Susan Butz.

The Lady Panthers then continued onto the regional competition, defeating Tech. In the second game North Central was defeated by Roncalli. "We were really pleased because we got a lot further than we thought we would and Roncalli was a really good team," commented Susan.

Because of the fire, the team was relocated to Northview, which they considered home. "This year we finally had a home gym and we were really disappointed when the fire happened," said Toni.

Despite obstacles, the Lady Panthers still seemed to attempt and achieve their goals. Assistant Varsity Coach Sherman Wallace said, "I think the team had a good year with an excellent post-season, and I think that team unity played a big part in that."

Boys' swimming in action

By Abby VanHuss

On Saturday, Feb. 25, North Central's boys' swim team competed in the state meet held at the Natatorium.

Freshman R. J. Morgan and Seniors Richard Forslund, Nik Hawks, and Caden Taylor placed tenth in the Medley Relay and second in the consolations of that event. Each leg of the relay team swims 50 yards; two pool lengths.

"We were really happy because everyone swam their best times at the state meet, and we were able to beat Carmel's relay team," said Caden.

Sophomore diver Jon Schneider also represented the Panthers for the first time at the Natatorium. "Hopefully I'll make it again next year and do better,"

commented Jon.

Coach Bill Powell's swimmers started practicing in October and ended the season 6-0 in dual meets. They also captured the Marion County title and placed second to Carmel in the Sectional meet.

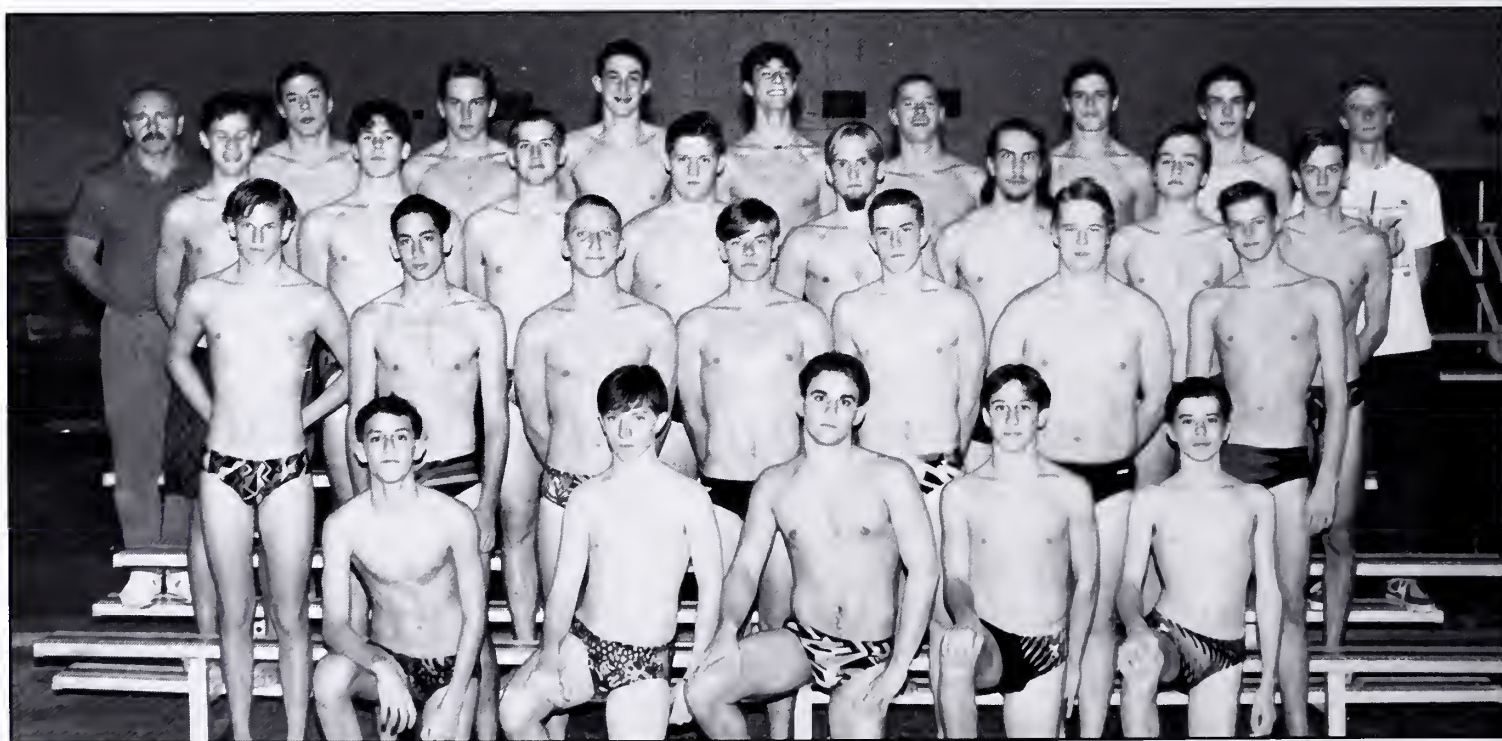

In order to qualify for the state meet, the swimmers had to place third or better in their respective events at sectionals. Jon placed third in diving and the Medley Relay team placed second.

Even though they will lose their "good group of seniors," the team is optimistic for next year's season.

We have good underclassmen and three really strong freshmen. More people will qualify for state next year," said Jon.

Life's rough Remodeled wrestling room?

By Maggie Wickes

The NC Wrestling team faced a 1994-95 season filled with adjustments. The team began the season in a remodeled wrestling room, but due to the fire, the team was once again uprooted from it's practice room in the main gym. The team spent the season practicing in the Northview gym, which also caused some problems. "Due to the conflict with Northview teams, practice length was shortened from one hour and 45 minutes, to only one hour, we were disappointed," said Robert Levine.

Through facing numerous obstacles, they had yet another successful season. The season ended with a winning record of 8 and 5. Two seniors, Gerard Edwards and Ricky Hancock, made semi-state and according to

Coach Joe Murphy "both did a great job and put in a good effort." Others that led the team were John Altman, Wes Dodson, John Rolling, Diandre Hill, and Andre Rice. Two freshmen, Jeff Reuther and Chris Rosenthal, wrestled varsity and contributed heavily to the team.

Wes Dodson, 12, felt that "the team had to make a lot of adjustments this year, but considering what we had to go through, we had a successful season."

Flippin' out

Ladies tumble to county

By Meredith Evans
and Maggie Wickes

"Sometimes a season passes in a blaze, but the memories will last a lifetime." The eight members of the NC gymnastics used this quote as a guide to their mindset throughout the 1994-95 season. Their key work word was ADAPT. This was because (due to the fire) the team's equipment, which had just been replaced from the previous fire, was destroyed once again. The team traveled to the Indy School of Gymnastics for practices.

According to Katie Fritsch, junior, "It has been worth it for the sake of saving injuries. The equipment is better and we have more of it to use."

The team was coached by Mrs. Vicki Wright

and Assistant Barbara Reed. Coach Wright reflected on the positive aspects of the fire. "We have become more mentally tough and have learned the true meaning of time management," she said.

Ranked on the top 10 on the AP Poll, the team's season went well and they became county champs. The team captains were seniors Emily Radecki, Holly Gardner, and Junior Katie Fritsch. Radecki commented, "The team stuck together and it showed in our scores...We scored consistently higher than we did last year." The other members of the team were Junior Jaime McGhee, Sophomore Jennifer Sherard, and Freshman Destinee Overstreet, Kelly Tommosone, and Abby Harlan. The team will lose their top all-around seniors, Radecki and Gardner, but plans to rebuild into a competitive team again.

Intramural bowlers get 'rowdy'

By Jennie Brown

Nora Bowl was the place to be every Tuesday at 3:30 pm. There one could cheer on the intramural bowling teams, sponsored by Mr. Terrell Hudson. Senior Mike Morris, member of the champion team #44 and who claims a high score of 314, described the excitement in the lanes.

"We would roll the ball down the lane and pins would fall down." Senior Jeff Burch, second place individual bowler and member of third place team King Burch and the Fluffnevets, described the action in the alley as "rowdy." "We engaged in more trash-talking as we defended our crown. Everyone was out to get us because we were, without a doubt, the best."

Senior Courtney Clinger, who regrets not being on a bowling team, but who was an avid fan, claims

everyone could "feel the excitement in the air before each game."

Each Tuesday the teams would play two games. The winning teams would receive two points. At the end of the season all of the points were added together to determine the champ. When asked what was done to boost team spirit, Mike replied, "I ate my teammates' nachos and I bowled." He went on to say that the best thing about bowling was the jalapeno peppers. "When you had one it provided a frictionless grease that enabled the bowling ball to slide off your hand with ease; winning the championship was great, too." Jeff concluded that the best thing about bowling was getting out of track every Tuesday.

Cheerleaders provide spirit

By Becky Ravensberg

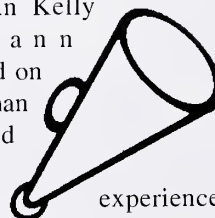

"Go Panthers! NCHS is number one!" We hear the enthusiastic cries of the cheerleaders at football games, pep rallies, basketball games and other school functions.

Girls' Varsity Cheer Coach Lisa Knipp stated, "Coaching these girls is a challenge, one that requires time to work together, and to trust each other. All you can do is choose the best talent and improve, and it's my job to reach the potential of each girl and incorporate that into a squad. This requires putting the potential of each of them together to work as a team."

The girls grew close during all the time spent with each other. Whether they were at camp, at a game or cheering at practice, these girls had fun together (almost) all of the time.

Freshman Kelly K a r r m a n n commented on the freshman s q u a d cheering experience, "I think it is a good experience, but a lot of hard work and very time consuming. It's fun to make a lot of new f r i e n d s h i p s ."

Junior Christy Johnston explained, "Cheering is very fun.

My favorite part of it is hamming it up in front of the crowd."

Senior Kelly Maher put her own senior advice in, "With only three seniors this year it was a little difficult in terms of leadership, but we pulled together and fulfilled our expectations. We achieved more through personal goals, and hopefully next years cheerleaders will be able to take that to Nationals with them and do even better than they have before."

Any game or pep session wouldn't be the same without the excitement and good attitudes the cheerleaders provide for our school and the "Panther Pride" that is unique to North Central.

International, Evergreen join hands

By Ericka Fluckus
& Abby VanHuss

The one club here at North Central that has the most diversity in culture is the International Club. Students from Ukraine, Russia, France, Germany, Poland, Ethiopia, China, Mexico, Korea, Vietnam, Israel, Kuwait, and even America make up the club. The 30 regular club members meet every two weeks. Like a formal club/organization, officers conduct the meetings.

Activities they have participated in include, a visit to Holiday Park, a hay ride, and a trip to the annual International Festival.

Yakov Pekar, another Ukrainian, felt the best part of the club was meeting others who are from different countries who felt the same way about being in America.

NC's environmental club, Evergreen, completed many projects this year. The Evergreen Club, sponsored by Mrs. Dee Webster, consisted of 25 optimistic students who met once a month.

According to co-president Sarah Silver, "The club's main objective for the year was to clean up the never-ending mess caused by the construction, and to sell and plant small trees." They performed an original environmental play at local elementary schools.

Etchings... in student literary excellence

By Aarti Sriram

Being a staffer on a North Central publication required a lot of time, commitment, and motivation. This especially proved true for NC's literary magazine, Etchings in Thought. Etchings was made up of literary work submitted by the student body. The work mainly consisted of poems, essays, and some artwork. Mrs. Kate Raper, faculty adviser, broadened horizons last year, by asking students to submit short stories, plays, critical essays and pieces that emphasized the cultural variety found at NC, in addition to the poetry and essays.

A 12 member editorial board was chosen in January 1995. The board helped Mrs. Raper select the pieces that eventually ended up in the magazine. The board members did not know the authors of the pieces, thus making the selection process very objective. In the past, the board has had little responsibility in addition to selecting the pieces. The final editing, scanning, and compilation of the book was done by Mrs. Raper. This was changed last year, as Mrs. Raper appointed Seniors David Mallov and Chris Hainline, as student editor and production coordinator, respectively. She felt that since the magazine represented NC's student body, the board and students should be handed more responsibility. In regard to getting more responsibility, David stated, "It's taught me a lot about responsibility, and what makes good literature."

In addition to serving as a reflection of the literary talent of NC, Etchings also served as a reflection to the school itself. At the end of the school year, a copy of Etchings was mailed to every house in Washington township. It was also placed in doctor's offices, the licensing bureau, and public buildings.

Quill and Scroll

Recognizing excellence in scholastic journalism

By Aarika Mack

International Quill and Scroll is an honor society made up of outstanding journalism students.

"Seniors who have been on a publications staff at NC for three semesters or more, maintained a 2.5 GPA, and have shown consistent dedication to excellence are inducted," explained Mrs. Kate Raper, staff adviser for The Northerner, NC's yearbook, and The Northern Lights, the school's newspaper.

"It's an honor to be given such a prestigious award," said senior Libby Hacker, yearbook layout editor, who received her membership this year.

"Around 20-25 seniors are inducted each year," explained

Mrs. Raper. "For initiation we have a candle lighting ceremony and invite parents, administrators, and a representative of the working press. The students also receive a membership card, pin, and a subscription to Quill and Scroll magazine. If students are planning to continue with publications, this recommendation looks good on their records."

International Quill and Scroll evaluates publications each year. North Central's newspaper has received International First and Second Place recognition since first participating in 1993. 1995 Quill and Scroll Members:

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

One step ahead!

Members of National Honor Society lead the way

By Aarti Sriram

As with the other societies and clubs at North Central, National Honor Society is one that is leading our generation. Sponsor, Mrs. Jill Lyday defined the society as, "an honorary society for seniors achieving the required GPA. It is the highest honor that a student can achieve in high school. It reflects upon them for college and future years."

The society is special as it is reserved for seniors with a cumulative 3.2 GPA, and at least four merits from different teachers. Members are inducted in the spring of their Junior year. Besides filling the GPA requirement, members have to demonstrate qualities of leadership, service to their peers, and a strong character. Senior Chris Prouty, secretary of the club stated, "All honor society members joined at least one of nine committees: scholarship, induction ceremony, constitution, freshman recognition, fund raising, peer tutoring, service projects, social and publicity.

The hope is that all committees will run smoothly and develop a positive improvement for our school and community."

'Speak the speech, I pray you'

Shakespeare & speech: a beautiful art, unique talents

By Aarti Sriram

"I think it's an excellent experience to be on the speech team because it gives you a chance to broaden your intellectual horizons competing with your peers," stated William Fife, a sophomore at North Central.

In his twenty-fifth year of coaching Mr. David

Fruits feels the same way, with close to 20 new members on the team.

interest in public speaking and a common hope of making the national tournament

The speech team was composed of separate individuals who shared a common every summer. Students such as Freshman Drew Essery, "want a chance to use the experience acquired in speech class."

North Central students are always successful in many events, winning ribbons and trophies. Mr. Fruits commended the team by stating, "It's a wonderful experience to work with such champions who have salvaged a national reputation for outstanding speaking." National champion Senior Ben Peled vouched for that.

Founded two years ago by sponsor Mr. Tony Armstrong, Shakespeare Club is for students to gain a better understanding and appreciation of the works of Shakespeare, socialization, and the "occasional game of euchre," as described by Junior Carolyn Carnes.

Students with a deep hearted interest in the writings of Shakespeare, gathered on Thursdays, and learned more about his works. A euchre tournament last fall raised funds for local literacy programs.

Culturally proud African American Scholars probe issues

By Aarika Mack

The African-American Scholars' Program is a group designed to bring black students together in a learning forum. The program, which was started by superintendent, then principal, Dr. Eugene White, met the first Monday of every month to discuss issues and problems that face the African-American population here at NC. It is now headed by North Central counselor

Mrs. Marilyn Corbitt.

"We talk mostly about classroom and administration problems. We also get into deeper issues such as racism and prejudice, here on campus," stated Sophomore Alicia Roberts at one of the organizations meetings. "We learn to respect ourselves as well as others."

The scholars' program included speeches from prominent members of the Indianapolis community, group activities such as a Kwanzaa celebration (a holiday celebrated in addition to Christmas to celebrate African-American heritage), and the highly successful annual spring fashion show. The African-American Scholars' Program was a vital part of the working system of the NC student body. It offered scholarships to outstanding AASP members. The program is another aspect of diversity as seen here at North Central.

Successful

Teams & clubs, a great start, a good year!

By Moira Querns, Melissa January, Shana Cohen, & Aarti Sriram

There's only one team at North Central that gives students a chance to build a car that will break an egg, study the habits of frogs and lizards, and measure the amount of force exerted by a cookie. According to Coach Guy Konkle, "Science Olympiad is a science competition consisting of 23 events split up among physics, biology, chemistry, and earth science. There is a mixture of written tests, lab techniques, and building events."

This year the Science Club got off to a good start with a field trip to Wolf Park.

The Science Club had an exciting year, including trips to Shades State Park and a wild cave trip. According to Mrs. Mary Williams, faculty sponsor, the group enjoyed taking new trips to Turkey Run State Park and going on a fossil trip.

Model UN is, as the name describes, a mock United Nations. A prerequisite to be a part of the team is to have taken a semester of International Relations under Dr. Bill Broderick, who is also the sponsor of the team. The team as a whole undertakes the study of a certain country, and makes it their job to know everything about that country, make proposals, and debate them.

ROTC teaches leadership

By Meredith Evans

This year's Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps was described by Col. Michael L. Kelly, Sr. as a "challenging year, but a good year."

JROTC consisted of a Color Guard, Drill Team, Recondo Unit and Rifle Team. Inside the wall of the JROTC area in the stadium, a banner read, "Mission: To motivate students to be better Americans."

This statement was true for C/LTC Jason Hutchinson, Battalion Commander, a senior at NC. "JROTC has great influence on a person's life. It has taught me self-discipline, military bearing, and most importantly, how to be a leader," Jason reflected.

Not only is the JROTC great for school spirit and pride in our country, but it can literally pay off at college, where some ROTC scholarships can amount up to $12,000 a year. Jason was in competition for a four year scholarship to Purdue University.

Responding to need

Key Club gives a helping can to others

By Courtney Clinger

The North Central Key Club is widely recognized, both internationally and school wide. This year there were signs, posters and invitations all over the school inviting new members to club meetings. They portrayed positive and open minded messages, and most of all, they gave to the community on behalf of our school.

Senior Ashley Malcolm, treasurer, explained, "We have gone to the Wheeler Mission to help distribute food. We also go to the Family Services Center to play with children who have been taken away from their parents." These were only some of the activities of the club this year. They were also in charge of the canned food drive, which promoted homeroom competition and also helped needy families.

According to Advisor Mr. Michael Lile, this year has been "by far the most active year. The president, Stephanie Bibeau, has done an incredible job." Mr. Lile also explained that the club was "emphasizing small group outings." These outings included trips to Dayspring and other family centers around the city.

Ashley added, "This year we had many underclassmen which is a good sign for years to come...we're really working on getting the underclassmen to lead the club."

One of the club's goals was "to gain more international recognition," according to Mr. Lile.

Hard Work Behind the Scenes... And in the Spotlight

by Gretchen Liechty

Drama plays a large part of North Central's Performing Arts Department, and this is largely due to the dedication and hard work of two student organizations. The Stage Crew and the Thespian Troupe are filled with students who have a love for theater, and are determined to keep North Central productions at a level of excellence.

Stage Crew, headed by Mr. William Lord, is a large group of students who work behind the scenes to make each production run smoothly. They have only two actual meetings during the school year - one at the beginning, and a wrap-up session at the end. The rest of their time is hands-on experience.

"Even though I can't act, I still play an important role in theater," said Junior April Johnson. "I love theater." April was involved in all aspects of stage crew, with an emphasis on the spotlight.

Senior Chris Hardie,

"Thespians can be compared to an athlete's letter jacket."
-Jonathan Gardner, senior who mainly works in lighting, stated "I like to press the buttons."

The Thespian Troupe, number 18511, members receive points for each production that they take part in, and after receiving a certain number of points are initiated into the group.

Thespians attended meetings and were in charge of marketing and advertising shows. The officers were Senior Mary Hayes, president, Senior Jason Pierce, Vice President, Senior Jennifer Oldham, Secretary, Senior Kelly Shoger, Treasurer, and Senior Doris Woo, Historian.

Hayes stated that

"Thespians create unity in the drama department."

"Thespians is a great way to acknowledge our hard work," said Senior

Jonathan Gardner. "People recognize our efforts. It can be compared to an athlete's letter jacket."

Without Stage Crew and Thespians, North Central's drama department would be very different. It is the efforts of these people which bring excellence to our productions.

On Center Stage... n The Town

By Christopher J. Prouty

The fall musical at North Central was Leonard Bernstein's On The Town, directed by Mrs. Amy Christie. The Navy ships are in for 24 hours, and three sailors, Ozzie (Jon Gardner), Chip (debut appearance Tom Ridgely), and Gabey (Ken Kaissar) take shore leave in New York for the first time.

They all part ways in hopes of finding "Miss Turnstyles" or Miss Ivy Smith (Kim Blair) for the love struck Gabey.

Chip takes a scenic tour of the town and meets up with a multi-talented taxi driver, Hildy (Jessica Bengé).

Ozzie finds himself in the Natural History museum and meeting an ingenious anthropologist, Claire de Loone (Mary Hayes), and he becomes a specimen for her "Pithican Ceropis Cerectus" study.

Gabey manages, with little help from his side tracked pals, to find Ivy Smith at Carnegie Hall as a "cooch dancer extraordinaire." The climax brings Judge Pitkin W. Bridgework (Jason Pierce) onto the scene, and the judge brings the three couples down with his "iron fist."

The comic performances by Madame Dilly (Rachel Sandy), Multi-Man (Sam Franklin), Lucy Schmeeler (Angie Tarr), and the duo of Flossy and Friend (Phebe Taylor and Sarah Mangum), and ballet dancing siblings (Matthew and Lynn Peterson) deserve our applause. Special recognition goes to the costume designer, Elizabeth Cox.

The pit orchestra under the direction of Mr. Richard Dennis, and stage crew, supervised by Mr. William Lord rounded out the production. They live by the ancient Hungarian saying "Cho beez my life," which is often quoted by Mr. Dennis.

Spring Theater

By Gretchen Liechty

Although the phrases "fall musical" and "spring play" are usually familiar at North Central, 1994 was an exception. Due to renovation in the auditorium, both the annual play and musical had to be performed in the spring.

The first play that took place was the classic Our Town, which included cast members from all four grades. It was directed by Mrs. Holly Rice, and rehearsed for approximately two months. Sophomore Jason Hodges said, "It was a good chance to get to do a play that made you think about life."

Our Town

Sophomore Sarah Gerkenmeyer enjoyed her NC acting debut. "I got a feeling about what it would be like to be part of a North Central production. There was a point when all the seniors were crying because they were saying good-bye. I, being a freshman, cried too because I was saying hello."

Soon after Our Town came Guys and Dolls, a musical directed by Mr. Phillip Lineback. The leads were Graduate Emily Rogge, Graduate Marie Brown, Senior Jason Pierce and Senior David Roberts. The show was full of acting, singing and dancing.

Guys & Dolls

"There's more to school than academics," said Senior Sarah Mangum. "There's a lot of talent at North Central." Talent was obvious at these two performances.

Devoted to entertaining

Repertory Theater takes acting seriously

By Gretchen Liechty

Tenth period 40 students choose not to have early release in favor of acting. NC's Repertory Theater is the audition-only drama class, and this year's group is the largest ever.

"With such a big class it is hard not to have cliques, but I have made a lot of new friends despite this," said Junior Debbie Krueger.

In class, Rep members do many different activities such as exercises to feel more comfortable performing in front of people, monologues and scenes, improvisation, and memorization.

Their main focus throughout the year is the children's show. This year the show was titled Beanie and the Bamboozling Book Machine and was a combination of Aladdin,

Beauty and the Beast, Cinderella, and other stories. The group performed at North Central, and also spent a significant amount of time touring the show at different elementary schools.

"Rep members share the love of the spotlight," said Senior Matthew Ruble.

"We did a project where we wrote scripts in small groups and other groups performed them," said Senior Allison Fisch. "I really enjoyed the opportunity to work and be challenged by so many talented people."

"The improvisations are a great way to end the day," remarked Junior Sara Wilson.

Descants mesmerize audiences

By Gretchen Liechty

Stepping out in their brand new dresses, the Descants, one of North Central's all girl choirs, put on many spectacular shows throughout the year. The group consisted mostly of sophomores, juniors, and seniors; there were 40 members in all.

The group showed off their talent in many in-state competitions, including the Spotlighters Invitational in Mooresville, and the Central Sound competition at Lawrence Central, performing a 15 minute festival set. The set displayed the group's vocal ability with the ballad With One Look from Sunset Boulevard, and the finale was a medley from the Sister Act soundtrack, packed with difficult dance moves, upbeat singing, and featured soloists. The group combined with the Girls Ensemble in the spring of 1995 to compete in the District ISSMA contest. They also performed in a noncompetitive fashion at the Holiday Music Show, Crystal Yacht Club, Union Station, Keystone at the Crossing, the Vocal Fine Arts Festival, and Baccalaureate.

Performing frequently required a significant amount of rehearsal time outside of school.

"With our new Monday night rehearsals we have been able to better ourselves," revealed Junior Lindy Arnold. The group spent Monday nights concentrating mainly on choreography. They also spent rehearsal time in the studio of their choreographer, Ron Morgan.

"We are a really young group this year," stated Junior Debbie Krueger "But we're also very strong. Descants is a lot closer this year; there aren't a lot of little cliques."

The King's Court Singers

By Courtney Clinger

Each choir at North Central has its distinct dress, but King's Court is perhaps the most memorable. We can watch them perform in costume much like those of knights and ladies of medieval times.

King's Court suffered the loss of their director, Mr. Phill Carey, last year to cancer, and began this year with a new teacher.

"We've tried to keep the integrity of Mr. Carey's teaching alive," remarked sophomore Miriam Plotinsky.

The group's main focus of first semester was preparing for their gland in the Renaissance.

"We got to be a small family in working together on the Madrigal dinner,"

Sophomore Jason Hodges reflected.

"It's very exciting to work on challenging literature and classical styles with classical voices," said Miss Clara Light, director.

Singing ...

With heart and soul

By Aarika Mack

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord ... come before his presence with singing."

The Northernaires, North Central's gospel choir adds a soulful touch to the acclaimed North Central Performing Arts Department. The choir had been through a difficult time last year due to the loss of their director, Mr. Phillip Carey.

"Mr .

Carey's death affected the choir as a whole and the students as individuals," explained Junior Kisha Shobe, "We all cared for Mr. Carey. It was difficult to sing for a teacher's funeral."

The choir charged through the 94-95 schoolyear with a new director Ms. Clara Light, a first year, partime teacher from Valporaso, IN. A new director and a new direction equals a new attitude for Northernaires.

"We all share a common love for music and a common dedication to choir." Ayanna Williams, sophomore

Counterpoints hit the city...

...entertaining with rhythm and sound

By Courtney Clinger

Counterpoints is the top show and concert choir at North Central, and consists of sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The Counterpoints are well recognized throughout NC, the state of Indiana, and even the nation.

The Counterpoints have undergone many changes as well as the usual school renovation. According to Senior Leslie Van Howe, "The group is a lot bigger and there are more sophomores." The group consisted of 50 members, making it larger than it had ever been before.

When asked how she felt about the Counterpoints, Leslie replied, "I like working toward a common goal. I enjoy the musical aspects." Leslie was planning to pursue a music education career at Indiana University and felt Counterpoints prepared her well for the path she wanted to lead.

"Being in Counterpoints is like being on a team," said Junior George Walker. "We know how to have fun, but everyone comes together when it's time to be serious."

The Counterpoints performed many shows during the year including the holiday music

show and the Beef and Boards Dinner show. They received the honor of singing in the Music Educators Regional Conference in February, and competed in the Showstoppers national show choir competition and the Indiana Secondary School Music Association organizational contest. In 1994 the Counterpoints placed first in ISSMA, regaining their title as the number one concert choir in the state of Indiana. This title had been held in three out of the four previous years.

The national show choir contest took place in Chicago the third weekend in March. The Counterpoints performed their festival set and were judged by people from all over the nation. Last year they placed third in the nation, this being the first time they placed in the top three EVER! According to Leslie, "Showstoppers is awesome!"

The Counterpoints demonstrated their versatility by performing songs varying drastically in style. They sang classical music, jazz, show choir music, and an African arrangement.

Director Mrs. Pat Wiehe commented "This year's group is following their predecessors. The 30 seniors have shown great leadership and all are focused on excellence."

Symphony Orchestra

Recognition due to hard work

By Gretchen Liechty

One might find it strange to encounter chairs and music stands in a high school rest room, but in the lower M hall rest rooms, you could find just that.

"The bathroom has good acoustics," said Senior David Marder. "We don't have practice rooms, but they're the next best thing."

After the construction is complete, Symphony Orchestra will have the luxury of practice rooms, and will not have to deal with other inconveniences they had to experience this past year. A big problem was that the walls in the performing arts wing were not soundproof (in fact, they had holes in them) and since Wind Ensemble rehearsed the same period they heard a band's different music clashing with their own during nearly every day rehearsal.

Much time was put in out of school, also. The violins had sectionals after school on Monday, and full orchestra rehearsals on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The time that they put in obviously paid off; Symphony has won more state championships in the past 10 years than any other group at North Central. "We're the biggest team at NC," stated Junior B.J. White.

"Orchestra is a good way to get known in the community," said Senior Liz Carr. Orchestra members were frequently hired to play in ensembles at Barnes and Nobles bookstore, hotels, and conventions.

Under Mr. Richard Dennis's direction, North Central's orchestra has been honored many times for the beautiful music they create when "we work together," according to Senior Ajna Austin.

Blow thou winds...

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble

by Gretchen Liechty

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble, under the director of Mr. Jay Gephart, is North Central's premier band ensemble. The group performs many times throughout the school year, and their hard work in and outside of school is what keeps them successful.

"This year Wind Ensemble was a rebuilding year because we lost a lot of senior leadership from last year," remarked Erin Clem and Aviva Sklare, juniors.

The Wind Ensemble performed at school programs, including their annual Winter Pops concert in March, and the Instrumental Fine Arts night in May. The group also took a trip to Bloomington and participated in a workshop with members of the IU School of Music faculty.

"With all these kids have been through this year, these students amaze me by their dedication and hard work," stated Mr. Gephart. "They don't disappoint me." Mr. Gephart is the third director of the ensemble since its beginnings.

ALBUM

SKETCH BOOK: When in your design class, you'll need to get one of these to draw to your heart's content.

JACKET: Since you never know from day to day or class to class what the temperature in the building will be, you should always keep this handy.

BOOKS: An obvious necessity at school, they take up a lot of the space in your locker and give you scholiosis.

BINDERS: A place where organization is the key, but by the end of the first six weeks, disaster strikes!

PENS AND PENCILS: Pencils for the Scantron sheets, and pens for those great English essays.

MIRROR: Going to see that special someone after class? Don't forget to check for chives in your teeth.

HAT: For those bad hair days (we know you have them!) cover up with a hat; but not in class!

NOTEBOOK: For love notes, doodles, phone numbers, paper airplanes, and oh, ya, homework, get a notebook.

“No matter how cool you look in your high school yearbook, in 20 years your kids will still laugh.”

Author Unknown

"I have this habit of personalizing my yearbook. By my friends' pictures, I put little stars, and my close friends score golden sticker stars. I draw hearts around the pictures of boys I like. Sometimes I even label the photos: "Cutest," "nicest," "sweetest," and the like. As for people I don't like-well, we won't discuss them."

-Senior Sara Dodd

The boulder has now lifted, the SAT's, advanced placements, college visitations and final decisions about our future are now coming to an end. Four year friends are now departing for their separate ways. All this so we can lose our "upperclassman" title and return to the bottom of the ranks. But that's what happens when you are termed...

Seventeen-year-old Angela Paradise is a senior here at North Central. She feels NC is helping her get ready for college. She confessed that the size and the challenging work is good. Angela is an African-American Scholars Program member, where she has been a helper for Mrs. Corbitt, and is going to be the fashion show scene coordinator during her senior year.

This hard worker feels that by going to NC she has gained the ability to get along with all kinds of people. She also confessed that she had an opportunity to take a variety of courses to help her explore a career.

After high school, Angela wants to attend either Georgia Tech or the University of North Carolina, and obtain a Ph.D. Her career goal is to be a child psychologist.

Outside of school, Angela is active in community

Angela Paradise is an achiever. For the 1993-1994 year, she won McDonald's Black History Maker award. She is a part of the National Honor Society, and the top 10 percent of the Student body Scholastic Citation.

Her number one goal out of life is to give back to the community. "I want to give back to the adults who've helped me," she said. Angela feels her challenge in life have been to stay on task and not give up.

When asked how she feels about being one of the positive youth she commented, "I need to be a role model...and try to be serious...I should be all I can be."

Peace to persecution

Cubans flee

They headed north on almost anything that would float, including rafts made of the flimsiest materials: oil drums, inner tubes, wooden planks.

They were Cuba's boat people — tens of thousands of people desperate to come to the United States to escape the poverty and hunger of their increasingly isolated island Communist nation.

Many Cubans did not make it because of storms, sinking, or the U.S. Coast Guard, which intercepted more than 1,000 crafts in one day in early September.

But the flood of migrants receded shortly thereafter. Reversing a 28-year-old policy of not granting Cubans asylum, the United States agreed to admit at least 20,000 a year.

In return, Cuban leader Fidel Castro promised to halt the flight of boat people. Police gave rafters a few days to get their crafts off Havana beaches and made sure no one came ashore.

Israel and Jordan achieve peace

Two men who had regarded each other with suspicion for six decades shook hands on the South Lawn of the White House, and once again peace in the Middle East seemed more than a dream.

A year after he shook the hand of Palestine Liberation Organization Chairman Yasser Arafat, Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin did the same with King Hussein of Jordan.

The two nations had been enemies since the creation of Israel in 1948 following a brief, bitter war between Jews and Arabs. The war drove thousands of Arab Palestinians into Jordan, creating a class of refugees and deep hatreds on both sides of the river Jordan.

"Out of all the days of my life," Hussein said at the White House peace ceremony, "I don't believe there is one such as this."

President Clinton shared their optimism. The old enemies, he said, "give their people a new currency of hope and the chance to prosper in a region of peace."

White House plane crash

Frank Corder suffered from depression, had a history of drug and alcohol abuse, and probably was suicidal. Nothing may explain for sure why the Maryland trucker stole a small plane near Baltimore and crashed it into the White House lawn shortly before 2 a.m. on September 15, 1994.

Corder, 38, died in what one federal investigator described as "a pretty pathetic thing — a final act of desperation."

Neither President Clinton nor his wife and daughter were home when Corder breached restricted air space around the White House. The plane came to rest against the mansion wall and burst into flames.

Corder had taken antidepressant medications; friends and relatives said he was

Brink of war

The United States went to the brink of invading Haiti, its poor, unsettled neighbor to the south. But at the last minute Haiti's military rulers bowed to the United Nations and promised to cede power to the duly elected president whom they had ousted, Jean-Bertrand Aristide.

Their decision was greeted with great relief by the Clinton administration, which was worried about meager public support for an invasion, and especially for the casualties it might have required.

discouraged by the recent breakup of his marriage and father's death. They disagreed over whether his flight was a publicity stunt or a suicide attempt.

With troop planes in the air and flying toward Haiti, three special US envoys—former President Jimmy Carter, retired General Colin Powell and Sen. Sam Nunn—struck an eleventh hour deal with Gen. Raoul Cedras and colleagues.

About 21,000 US troops eventually landed on the island. They were followed by an international force charged with keeping the peace until Aristide, who had been in exile in the US could consolidate control.

Health care reform

If the United States truly had a health care crisis in 1994, you couldn't have proved it by Congress. Despite the exhortations of President Clinton and the First Lady, the year ended without significant health insurance reform.

In 1993 the president appointed his wife, Hillary Rhodam Clinton, to head the health care task force. After extensive hearings and much research, the group produced a proposal that became famous or infamous — for its complexity.

Meanwhile, sentiment for change seemed to be limited to the minority of Americans who lacked health insurance or feared losing it. In the absence of a public outcry, there was insufficient support in Congress for the Clinton bill, which called for universal coverage. But the president had promised to veto anything less.

Mrs. Clinton took some of the blame for the failure. She said she had underestimated the effectiveness of the opposition, and didn't realize that the complexity of the administration's plan would turn people off.

From marriage to murder

Simpson flees in white Bronco

O.J. Simpson always lived life on camera, first as a football star, then as a sports-caster, commercial pitchman and actor. But nothing could have prepared him, or his fans, for the role he would play in 1994.

The first reports were surprising enough: Simpson was suspected in the brutal slashing murder of his ex-wife Nicole and her friend, Ronald Goldman.

But it was his arrest that proved unforgettable. Instead of truning himself in as promised, Simpson had a friend drive him in a rambling jaunt along southern California's freeways. The police followed behind at a discrete distance heeding a warning from Simpson's driver that O.J. had a gun.

As a national television audience watched -- virtually all network programming was pre-empted -- Simpson's white Bronco moved hypnotically along the fabled free-ways. Police cars followed in formation as crowds formed along overpasses.

Finally the Bronco returned to Simpson's west Los Angeles house, where he surrendered after nightfall. So began what many call the most famous murder case in American history.

Baseball strikes out

The 1994 baseball season ended not with a home run or a strikeout, but with a conference call and a fax. On the 34th day of the major league players strike, the team owners canceled the rest of the season, including the playoffs and the World Series.

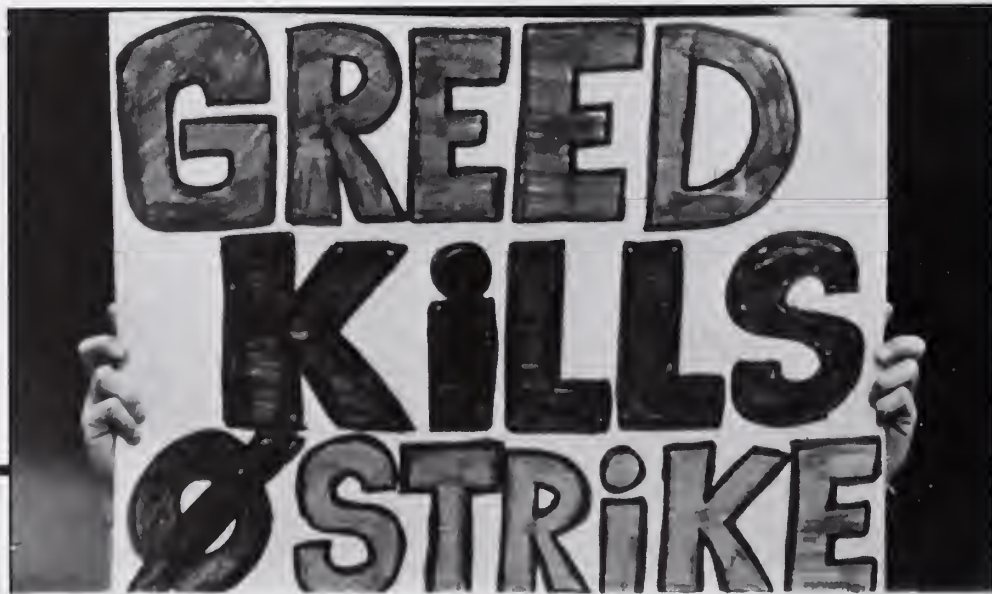

"This is a sad day," said acting commissioner Bud Selig in a fax distributed to the news media.

He got no argument. Not from Tony Gwynn of the San Diego Padres, who lost his chance to bat .400. Not from Matt Williams of the San Francisco Giants, who lost his shot at Roger Maris' home run record. Not from superstars Barry Bonds and Ken Griffey Jr.,

who lost more salary in a day than most Americans earn in a year.

And certainly not from fans, who suffered through a Fall without a World Series for the first time since 1904.

The season floundered on the owners' insistence on capping player salaries. The players refused to go along, went on strike, and in a little more than a month the season was history.

Woodstock recurs in '94

It rained. Thousands crashed the gates. People with tickets couldn't get in or had to wait for hours. Portable toilets overflowed. Food occasionally ran short. Drugs were everywhere.

Woodstock '94 looked a lot like the original 1969 rock festival — right down to the fans, who wouldn't have missed it for the world.

Promoters set up distant parking lots and shuttle buses for the 200,000 people who paid $135 each for tickets— advanced sale only. But about 350,000 showed up. Many ticket holders couldn't find a parking space, and some walked up to 12 miles to get to the concert. A few gave up and went home.

On stage, Bob Dylan, who did not perform in 1969, sang "Just Like a Woman." Joe Cocker wailed "With a Little Help From My Friends," just like 25 years ago. Melissa Ethridge impersonated Janis Joplin, a late veteran of Woodstock I, in "Piece of My Heart."

When it was over, the rain drenched and mud-covered lumbered home from the sloppy fairgrounds looking like the walking dead — who died smiling.

Pop star weds

It was a match made in tabloid heaven: The child of one of the two biggest stars in rock history married the other biggest star in rock history.

Lisa Marie Presley, Elvis's only child, married the reclusive Michael Jackson. After weeks of dodging photographers, the couple made a public coming out. They opened the MTV Music Video Awards ceremony, live from the Radio City Music Hall.

An announcer intoned, "Please welcome Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jackson," as the couple held hands during their brief appearance and exchanged a long kiss.

"I'm very happy to be here," Jackson said. "And just think, nobody thought this would last."

★ Brazil wins the World Cup

Brazil's offense got all the attention beforehand, but its defense ended up stopping Italy — and winning the World Cup, soccer's ultimate prize.

Diving to his left Brazilian goalkeeper, Claudio Taffarel knocked out Daniele Massaro's shot in the penalty kick tie breaker to set the stage for Brazil's victory.

"Penalty kicks are a lottery," said the goalie. "It doesn't show which team is better. You guess right, and it looks easy."

Taffarel was merely the anchor of a defense that held Italy scoreless for 90 minutes of regulation play and 30 minutes in overtime. Ultimately it was a team defense that gave Brazil its fourth world title.

Taffarel said he wasn't the hero: "All 11 players are."

Brazil's unsung back line, hobbled by injuries, came through when defense stars Romario and Bebeto couldn't put the ball in the net.

"Defense won this game," Aldair, one of the new heroes, said after the match. "Maybe this will earn Brazilian defenders some recognition."

NC ablaze for second time

By Jenny Noble and Megan Blackwell

On Thursday, December 8, 1994, North Central High School experienced a fire in the upper east gymnasium for the second time in two years.

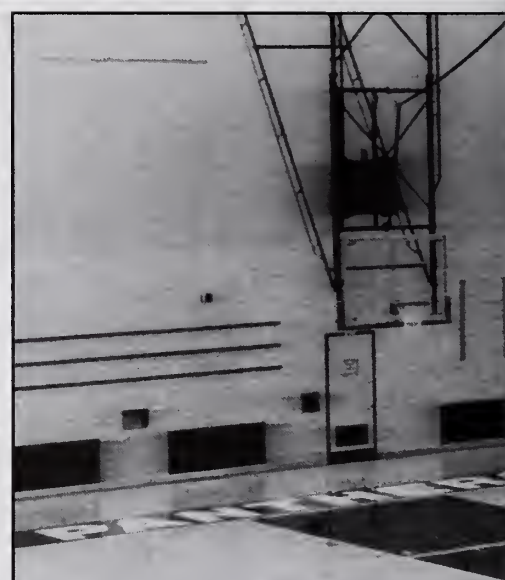

Around 2:50 pm, ten minutes before school ended, the fire alarm rang and students filed out the doors. From miles away, onlookers saw clouds of black smoke and flames coming from the roof of North Central. It was apparent that once again the school was on fire.

"I couldn't believe it. I was in shock when I saw all the smoke," said Sophomore Heather Swindler. Students were told to go to Northview Middle School, on the same campus, to catch their bus. School was canceled

Friday to secure and take inventory of the school.

There were three minor injuries. One student had an asthma attack; another student was slightly burned by falling debris. "I was glad I wasn't seriously hurt," commented Junior Matthew Dunn. Mr. Paul Loggan, assistant athletic director, suffered smoke inhalation after staying behind to make sure all of the students were safely out of the gym. "I stayed back because it is my job to check all of the lower locker rooms before I leave the building," said Mr. Loggan. Loggan was taken to the hospital and treated for smoke inhalation.

The fire caused seven million dollars damage to the school. The new gym was destroyed, along with the computer labs,

Because of the fire the previous year, suspicions about the cause circulated rampantly in the school and community. All accidental causes like electricity and heating units were eliminated as causes by the marshal. Eventually he ruled the cause of the fire to be arson. "Someone could have accidentally started the fire and is still afraid to come forward, but because they haven't it is still considered arson," stated Captain Jim Smeehuyzen, of the Washington Township Fire Department.

ship Schools, declared North Central to be in a state of emergency, placing many restrictions on faculty and students. All privileges were revoked. "The intent of the emergency plan is to insure that we know where every student is at all times," stated Principal Dr. Mike Jones.

This plan included some of the following: any student tardy to class was suspended, all staff had to wear ID tags, teachers had to be in hallways between classes, students had to show ID upon request. The first week an estimated 80 students were suspended as a result of the emergency plan.

"I think the rules are needed, but the consequences are too severe," said Sophomore Aarika Mack.

After the fire, many students bought fire shirts protesting the newly initiated State of Emergency rules and the loss of Senior Honor Code. Photo by Adam Collins.

Looking at 1995

This year the Republicans took over Congress putting Newt Gingrich, the 17 year congressman, in the top position of the House of Representatives .

A string of Pacific storms led to the deaths of at least 11 people and caused more than $300 million in flood damage across the state of California in January 1995.

The San Francisco 49ers defeated the San Diego Chargers, 49-26, in Super Bowl XXIX on January 29.

What have we learned?

1. Be yourself.
2. Work hard.
3. What goes around comes around!
4. Manage time wisely.
5. Don't procrastinate!
6. Always show RESPECT!
7. You can only achieve what you want to achieve.
8. Stand up for what you believe in.
9. There is more out there than what you think!
10. Don't get caught!!!

Over the past four years, the class of 1995 has lived by the old saying: Veni, Vidi, Vici (We came, We saw, We conquered.) seniors have seen two fires at North Central and have been through two different principals as well as an Interim Principal. Outside of North Central, students have experienced more than some people have in an entire lifetime. It's just one more reason that you have to SEE things to BELIEVE them. The Class of 1995 took a poll to show how much they have experienced. The results are quite interesting.

Do you drink? 56%

Do you smoke? 31 %

Do you do drugs? 9 %

Do you have plans to go to college? 70 %

Do you plan on visiting NC after graduation? 85 %

The Average Extraordinaire

By Michelle Costley

Brooke Lasley could easily be called "The Average Extraordinaire." Maintaining an "A" average last semester, participating in a dance group called Fire and actually having a personal life, Brooke has done what most people could not. When asked why does she work so hard she could only respond by saying "I want to be the one making choices in my life, nobody else. Without an education I could not do that."

Brooke credits many people for her personal success. "My mother" was the answer to the question who has influenced her the most. With her mother being her personal study buddy, her confidante, her mentor for good values and morals there is no question to whether or not she has made the right choice.

Brooke also spends a portion of her life helping her sister turn out to be as much of a goal grabbing young lady as she is.

Junior Life: The Entire Story By Jennie Brown

"Junior year: the most challenging, the most fulfilling- 'It's where men are made men, women are made women' - er, women, and the rest just fade away," concluded Junior Peter Brown when he was asked to sum up his year at NC.

It's amazing that our class of '96 has only one year left at North Central. Each year flies by faster and faster. For jobs, Spec, closer friendships, and a new work ethic marked the lives of most of our class. "A new work ethic": for some this means a serious approach towards school work in anticipation for college; for others this means sliding by because our high school careers are more than half over. John Vandersall, junior, admits that was his "hardest year yet."

Junior Barry Reisweg, honor student and academic scholar, boasted this about one year: "It's more fun than getting poked in the eye with a sharp stick." It's easy to say that most everyone would agree with that.

Sophomore-itis. Is there such a thing sister to senior-itis? The year before becoming an upperclassman you can relax and chill, and just pass the classes with mediocre grades if you choose. (But you would never do that.) Yet coming up next year you have PSAT's and college visitations. The boulder has landed, and it has landed on your shoulders. Welcome,

Entire story

By Aarika Mack

"Just two more years to go," sighs Megan Blackwell, sophomore. The class of '97 expressed varied emotions on the sophomore year here at North Central.

"Sophomore year is less exciting than freshman year because you aren't new to the school anymore," stated Nicole Rodriguez, "this year is more of a routine. I am looking forward to my junior year."

"There are a lot harder classes and curriculum, but its more fun now that my friends and I can drive, but I can't wait until I'm out of 10th grade!" cried Rebecca Berfanger.

"I think, so far, this has been the year of adjustments," said Vivian Randolph, "the classes have gotten harder and I've had to adjust to construction and the fire on top of all the "normal" sophomore experiences. I basically feel like I'm more a part of the school because I'm familiar with the atmosphere."

Nick Warren was quoted saying "Junior year there is prom and spec, juniors get more respect than sophomores because they are now technically upperclassmen. The future seniors of N.C."

What got all these people jumping with quotes? The question "What is sophomore year like?" Being as it may be the consensus was "Not being a freshman."

Well here it is the end of the year and the end of the sophomore section. Do you realize what that means? You are now technically a junior. (If you made the credit requirements.) Don't start running just yet. There are privileges that come along with this. Like the sound of being called "Upper-classman?" Well you have done it. Through the construction, room changes, and restrictions. Welcome to it, and good luck.

Hi,
I just wanted to add that you should worry about the kids in your life. There is someone for everyone,
it may be Lucas.
Just kidding. So don't let these jerks
ruin your life.
RJC, 97'

Freshmen year is a time for exploration, seeing new sights and discovering new horizons. It is a time of firsts: the first day at North Central,

first drag of a cigarette,
first high school dance,
and the first night out past 9 o'clock. The class of 1998 was no exception to this list.
The freshmen got off to a good beginning, where they quickly learned... one has

CLASS OF 1998

to see North Central, to believe it.

Selected freshmen POLIS rooms were asked to complete a poll to see how many firsts they had experienced. This poll produced quite interesting

results.

Tory, as far back in time as the beginning of man, a race of people, generations and our family have looked at each new birth and wondered: is this another one that will succeed? Will you find a cure for cancer? Upon graduating, you have begun and the world, the race, the family awaits your mark. Use your talents to their fullest, work and play hard, keep all things in perspective and perservere.

With great pride, love, hopes and memories, Mom and Dad, Tony, Manny, Cofie, and the late Skokie, Pepe and Piper.

Christine Stehman,
There have been moments of laughter, of tears
There have been hours of practice, study activities with peers
But of memories, we hope there are years
Treasured memories to enjoy to dissuade all fears.
Remember you, your dreams and hopes are Forever dear to us!

Colophon

The thirty-ninth edition of the Northerner was printed by Newsfoto Publishing Company of San Angelo, Texas with Mr. Dick Kennard as our Newsfoto representative. The cover is lithographed on white Lithocote in four process color. The book was printed on 80 lb. enamel, the Mini Mag and endsheets on 80 lb. Passport Pumice. There were 41 pages of four process color. The book is a total of 256 pages. The type is Times New Roman with 10 point body copy and 9 point captions. Each section editor chose headline styles. All pages were designed and produced on Aldus Pagemaker/Taylor Page Setter. Portrait photography for seniors, Homecoming, Prom, and athletic team formals was provided by Prestige Studios. Performing arts group formals were taken by Bates. All others were provided by staff photographers, parents, and members of the student body.
